Dominican Planes Attack Rebel Area

Arab Nations Cut Ties With Bonn

Waves Goodby, Leaps To Death

With a yell of youthful exuberance, Navy frogman Melvin Francis Melochick, 24, leaps with three buddies from a C130 at 6,000 feet in a practice jump for an Armed Forces Day demonstration. Norfolk (Va.) Ledger-Star military writer Jack Kestner snapped this photo moments before Melochick collided with Jerry Lee Todd, of Virginia Beach, Va. Melochick was killed when he hit the waters of Willoughby Bay. Todd, partly visible under arm of man at right, was hospitalized with a fractured leg. (Story at bottom of page) (AP Photofax)

Break Follows German-Israel Reconciliation

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany and Israel announced Thursday the establishment of full diplomatic relations and Arab governments, as forecast, began closing German embassies.

On one hand it was a day of reconciliation from the bitterness of World War II; on the other a sustained hostility from the Palestine war of 1948.

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's official spokesman, Karl Guenther von Hase, told a news conference that relations actually were established Wednesday through an exchange of letters between Erhard and Prime Minister Levi Eshkol.

Swift Retaliation

The official announcement also was conveyed via West German ambassadors to the Arab nations. It explained Bonn's standpoint and said: "The German hand remains outstretched in the Arab realm."

But Arab retaliation was swift.

Iraq started the ball rolling by breaking relations with West Germany on Wednesday. Following suit were Jordan, Syria, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Yemen. Kuwait, which was about to exchange ambassadors with Bonn when negotiations with Israel began, abrogated the agreement.

League Called For Break

Beirut analysts of Middle East affairs said they expected Algeria and Sudan to go along with the majority of the 13-nation Arab League which adopted a resolution in Cairo on March 15 calling for such a break. They expected Morocco, Tunisia and Libya to hold out.

In an official statement, the Bonn government said the remaining deliveries due on a West German arms agreement with Israel had been transformed into economic deliveries. Von Hase said these already have been carried out. He did not say what they were or how much they were worth.

House Group Would Enlarge Poverty War

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that would nearly double the money for the administration's antipoverty program was approved swiftly Thursday by the House Education and Labor Committee.

Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D - N.Y., rammed the $1.5-billion request through both a subcommittee and the full committee in three hours with Republicans protesting loudly but vainly.

A voice vote completed committee action on the authorization bill, which would continue the program until June 30, 1967, as well as increase its present authorization of $800 million. One Republican, Rep. Ogden R. Reid of New York, said he voted for it.

Actual funds must be provided later in an appropriations bill.

The committee approved one key change in the law, which was enacted last year. It removed a provision that gives governors a veto power over some of the projects.

Powell had promised just such speedy action at a "summit meeting" Tuesday with Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The Harlem congressman had been critical of the program, charging that local politicians were monopolizing it, blocking independent agencies from the funds, and shutting out the poor in the planning of projects.

After his meeting with Shriver and his aides, however, Powell dropped several amendments he had prepared and promised to rush the bill through without change.

Lindsay Will Run For N. Y. Mayor

NEW YORK (AP) — John V. Lindsay, 43, a liberal Republican congressman, announced Thursday he had changed his mind and will run for mayor against Democrat Robert F. Wagner.

The tall, boyish Lindsay wouldn't predict victory, in the traditionally Democratic city, but promised: "I will wage the hardest campaign ever waged in the city of New York."

At five news conferences—one in each of the city's boroughs—Lindsay said things had become so bad in New York under Wagner that he decided it was his duty to run.

Wagner, at 55, is seeking an unprecedented fourth four-year term.

Reds Attack Textile Plant Near Saigon

Guerrillas Wear S. Viet Uniforms, Kill Five In Raid

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Red ruse involving the use of Vietnamese marine uniforms brought the war back to Saigon's doorstep Thursday.

A platoon of about 30 Viet Cong guerrillas, garbed as marines, got past the guard at a suburban textile plant without challenge and then opened fire.

A U.S. spokesman said the guerrillas killed five militiamen assigned to the plant, in a recently developed industrial area north of town on the Saigon-Bien Hoa highway. Another regional soldier and three civilian employes were wounded.

16 Viet Cong Slain

In the rice lands 120 miles southwest of Saigon, government forces skirmished with a Red battalion near Bac Lieu, a commercial center of 14,000. One U.S. adviser and 16 Vietnamese soldiers were reported wounded and 16 Viet Cong killed.

A U.S. spokesman said the troops were pinned down for an hour by heavy fire, but air strikes neutralized the Viet Cong positions.

Far to the north, U.S. Marines ambushed a patrol of eight or 10 guerrillas who were probing outer defenses of the Da Nang base in predawn darkness.

Trails of blood, but no bodies, were found after sunup in the area of the clash, near Le My village eight miles west of Da Nang.

Arrow Wounds Marine

In an apparently unrelated incident, a Marine guard was wounded in the thigh by a 13-inch-long arrow. This is of a type fired by some hill tribesmen. A U.S. spokesman who announced the incident had no further details.

Sporadic action persisted in the region of Song Be, a provincial capital 74 miles north of Saigon. Snipers shot at government positions in the town early in the day and others shot at planes from the jungles south of Song Be.

Okla. Senate Ousts Judge For Bribery

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — The Oklahoma Senate, with no votes to spare, Thursday ousted Supreme Court Justice Napoleon Bonaparte Johnson from office. The vote was 32-15 on each of two counts.

The state Senate, sitting as a court of impeachment, sustained the articles of impeachment brought against Johnson by the House of Representatives and removed him from office. He was accused of accepting bribes to influence his decision in two supreme court cases in 1957 and 1958.

The 32-15 vote on the two counts was the exact two-thirds majority needed to convict him.

Sen. Roy Grantham, the presiding officer, announced to a sullen Johnson after the first article was sustained:

"You are thereby under the Constitution and statutes of the state of Oklahoma found guilty under article one and it is the judgment of the court that you be removed from office as justice of the Supreme Court of the state of Oklahoma."

Johnson, who was elected to the Supreme Court in 1948, was chosen outstanding American Indian for 1954-55. He has served as president of the National Congress of American Indians and the National Hall of Fame for famous American Indians at Anadarko, Okla., the unofficial Indian capital of the nation.

Johnson was born in Maysville, Okla. in 1891 and was reared at Claremore. He was a member of the same Indian tribe as the late Oklahoma humorist Will Rogers.

U.S. Forces Fire On Five Air Raiders

Rockets Silence Insurgent-Held Radio Station

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI) — Five Dominican Junta P51 fighter planes twice strafed rebel targets with rocket fire in downtown Santo Domingo Thursday. U. S. antiaircraft batteries opened fire when the attackers flew low over their positions.

State Department spokesman Richard Phillips said the U.S. considered the air attacks a violation of the formal cease-fire signed by rival Dominican military factions May 5. He said the attacks also violated U. S. efforts to establish a stable government here.

Phillips disclosed that both he and U. S. Ambassador W. Tapley Bennett Jr., crawled under their desks in the American Embassy when it appeared the attacking planes were coming in on a strafing run.

Radio Station Silenced

He said the air attack apparently was aimed at knocking rebel-held Radio Santo Domingo off the air. Rebel headquarters admitted the station had been silenced.

The U. S.-built fighters, turned over to previous Dominican governments under mutual aid agreements, flew in low to attack and passed over the U. S.-held armed corridor. Marine and paratroop batteries immediately went into action.

Phillips said it was not known where the attacking planes came from but he assumed it was the U. S. paratroop-guarded San Isidro Air Base outside the city.

"It is a huge base and it is possible for a plane to take off without American knowledge," he said. Asked why the U. S. had no air patrols up at the time, he said "We were not prepared for the contingency." He said steps were being taken immediately "to prevent the recurrence of such attacks."

No Advance Warning

Phillips emphasized the United States had no advance warning or knowledge of the raid.

Rebel headquarters in downtown Santo Domingo claimed one child was killed and a second child wounded in the rocket attacks.

There was heavy ground fire along the American - held "armed corridor" both before and after the stafing runs.

The air attacks were carried out just west of the corridor's Checkpoint Charlie outpost and directly behind the American Embassy, between the Marine perimeter and the rebel held sector of downtown Santo Domingo.

United Press International reporter Matthew T. Kenny suffered a dislocated shoulder when he dived for cover from an Army jeep in which he was riding through the U.S. corridor at the time.

Sniper Kills U. S. Marine

It was the first use of warplanes in the Dominican civil war since controversial loyalist Gen. Elias Wessin Y Wessin apparently stepped out of the military picture May 7 to make way for a five - man military-civil junta.

Renewed fighting between the rival Dominican military factions jeopardized efforts of Organization of American States (OAS) negotiators to end the civil war.

U. S. military authorities reported the death of another Marine sentry from sniper fire bringing to 18 the number of American servicemen killed here in two weeks.

Paratroopers reported eight instances of sniper firing at their positions along the Ozama River in downtown Santo Domingo in the past 24 hours but said they suffered no casualties.

LBJ Accuses China Of Pushing Viet War

Hanoi Offered Aid In Return For Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson accused Red China Thursday of pushing the Viet Nam war for Peking's own goal — "domination over all Asia" — at whatever cost to her allies. He held out the prospect of U.S. aid to Communist North Viet Nam if Hanoi turns to peace.

Johnson moved publicly to persuade Hanoi that its own best interests differ from Communist China's, in a speech devoted mainly to the continuing massive U.S. economic aid program for South Viet Nam.

"The third face of war in Viet Nam" — to build a better economic life for the Vietnamese — "is the most important battle of all," the President said in a nationally broadcast talk to editorial cartoonists meeting him at the White House.

"It was there — the illiterate, the hungry, the sick — before the war began," he said. "It will be there when peace has come.

"And so will we, not with soldiers and planes, not with bombs and bullets, but with all the wondrous weapons of peace.

"And then, perhaps, we can share that gracious task with all the people of Viet Nam — North and South alike."

Johnson listed armed conflict as the first face of the war and said the North Vietnamese Communists "are slowly beginning to realize" that the United States will unwaveringly pit unlimited resources of force to prevent conquest by force.

It was in naming the second face of the war — "the quest for a political solution" — that Johnson focused on Red China and on what U.S. strategists believe is deep-seated, historical Vietnamese fear of their huge neighbor to the north.

"We know, as our adversaries should also know, there is no purely military solution in sight for either side. We are ready for unconditional discussions. Most of the non-Communist nations of the world favor such discussions," Johnson said.

"And it would clearly be in the interest of North Viet Nam to come to the conference table. For them continuation of war, without talks, means only damage without conquest.

"Communist China apparently desires the war to continue whatever the cost to their allies. Their target is not merely South Viet Nam. It is Asia.

"Their objective is not the fulfillment of Vietnamese nationalism. It is to erode and to discredit America's ability to help prevent Chinese domination over all of Asia. In this domination they shall never succeed."

Johnson said he is intensifying the search for a Vietnamese settlement. U.S. officials said, however, that Peking and Hanoi have turned down India's new proposal for a cease-fire with an Afro-Asian policing force just as they rebuffed the earlier plea by 17 neutrals for no-precondition peace talks.

House Speaker Supports Ban On Poll Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speaker of the House John W. McCormack joined Thursday in the fight against state poll taxes, while the Senate defeated another Southern amendment to the Negro voting rights bill.

McCormack, the top House Democrat, said he favors legislation that would outlaw the poll tax as a requirement for voting in state and local elections.

In the Senate, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana was a top hand in the battle against an outright ban. It ended Tuesday with a 49-45 victory for a compromise plan that would send the government to court to challenge the taxes still required in Mississippi, Alabama, Texas and Virginia.

But the House Judiciary Committee rekindled the controversy by hammering a flat ban into its version of the voting rights bill. It is coupled with a declaration that poll taxes have been used to discriminate against Negroes and the poor.

"I favor the provision put in the House bill," McCormack told newsmen.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach has labeled an outright ban a constitutional risk. He contends the compromise version will deal with poll taxes more swiftly and surely.

A ban would affect not only the four Southern states, but the poll tax payments required of voters in Vermont's town meetings.

The Senate, on a 66-19 roll-call vote, rejected an amendment which one senator said would have kept in force the literacy tests suspended by the Johnson bill.

The Johnson measure would suspend the tests and authorize federal registration of voters in five Southern states and sections of two others.

Blonde Pleads Guilty In Shrine Dynamite Plot

NEW YORK (UPI)—A beautiful Canadian blonde Thursday unexpectedly pleaded guilty to plotting with three Negro extremists to blow up the Statue of Liberty, the Liberty Bell and the Washington Monument.

Michelle Duclos, 27, a former television personality from Montreal, seemed almost relieved as she stood before federal Judge William B. Herlands and said:

"I am guilty."

She had been scheduled to go on trial Monday with her three co-defendants.

Specifically, she was charged with transporting 30 sticks of dynamite from Montreal into New York City as part of the plot to destroy three historic American shrines as a violent protest to racial discrimination.

The plot was broken up by a rookie New York City policeman, Raymond Wood, who risked his life to infiltrate the group — banded together as the Black Liberation Front—as an undercover agent.

Still awaiting charges are Walter Augustus Bowe, 32, a judo instructor; Khaleel Sultarn Sayyed, 22, a college student from Brooklyn, and Robert Steele Collier, 28, of Manhattan, described as the ringleader of the plot.

OAS Dominican Force To Begin Arriving Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — First contingents of an inter-American peace force will arrive in the troubled Dominican Republic Friday, the Organization of American States (OAS) announced Thursday.

Costa Rican Ambassador Gonzalo J. Facio said he had been told that U. S. transport planes would fly in 250 soldiers from Honduras and 20 policemen from Costa Rica.

The OAS has approved a U.S. resolution providing for the hemispheric peacekeeping force but until Thursday had made no progress in arranging for troops to join the big American force in and around Santo Domingo.

Exact arrival times for the Honduran and Costa Rican contingents had not been worked out, according to Facio.

Earlier, diplomatic sources had said it might be a week or more before first units of the inter-American force would be ready to go to the Caribbean trouble spot.

Blast Damages Negro Church

FRIENDSHIP, Ala. (UPI) — A bomb blast shattered a Negro church Thursday in this little community outside Anniston, where the Ku Klux Klan marched 950 strong last Sunday.

No one was injured in the explosion but the blast cracked the four walls of the block structure, blew out doors and windows and lifted the roof.

The explosion occurred at the Pine Grove Methodist Church in the all-Negro community of Friendship, about eight miles from Anniston.

Investigators said they had no clues as to the identity of the bombers, but an all-out investigation was underway with state and local police and FBI agents taking part.

At Demopolis, in the western part of Alabama, police arrested three more adult civil rights demonstrators Thursday when they attempted to organize a march. A total of 83 persons have been arrested in Demopolis in recent days.

Ex-Serviceman Gets 30 Years For Espionage

NEW YORK (UPI) —Former Air Force enlisted man Robert Glenn Thompson, who says his heart still flutters when he hears the Star Spangled Banner, was sentenced to 30 years in prison Thursday for selling out his country as a spy for Russia.

Thompson stood before the federal judge with his head bowed and his eyes closed as sentence was handed down. His German-born wife sobbed softly in the background. He could have received the death penalty.

But Judge Walter Bruchhausen said he decided to be lenient because the husky former serviceman cooperated with the FBI and helped expose a Soviet spy apparatus at the United Nations that resulted in two Russians being ousted from the country.

Thompson said he began his career as a Russian agent while he was an airman in Berlin working as a clerk in the military special investigations office.

Navy Airman Sought After Crash Into Sea

QUONSET POINT, R.I., — (UPI) — A Navy plane with four men aboard crashed into the Atlantic while on anti-submarine maneuvers Thursday. Three men were rescued and one was reported missing.

A massive search was started for the missing airman, Lt. Rodney E. Beck, 30, of Whitestone, N.Y., formerly of Manchester, Pa.

Idle Teachers Told Work Or Be Fired

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Public school officials announced Thursday 360 members of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers would be fired if they do not return to duty Friday morning. They have been in a continuous meeting since Tuesday morning in a salary dispute.

Freak Jump Collision Fatal To Frogman

EDITOR'S NOTE — Jack Kestner, Norfolk Ledger-Star military writer, was aboard the plane from which a Navy frogman jumped to his death in a freak collision Wednesday. The following is his first-person account of the trip.

By JACK KESTNER

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The red light came on, followed a moment later by the grind of the hydraulic system as it opened the huge metal mouth of the rear cargo hatch.

Inside the cavernous interior of the C130 Hercules, frogmen from Little Creek amphibious base's Seal Team 2 kidded each other.

"Are you boys always this up for a jump?" one of them was asked. "You've got to be up to get down!" grinned Signalman I.C. J. O. Wallace Jr.

Within minutes one of the six had become the victim of a freak jump collision and had plummeted, chute streaming, into the chilly waters of Willoughby Bay to become the first frogman in peacetime to die in a paradrop.

Another was hospitalized with a broken leg and possible internal injuries.

Machinist's Mate 3.C. Melvin Francis Melochick, 24, gave an Indian yell and raised his hand in a final goodby as he leaped from the plane. Six thousand feet below he met death.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Andrew Melochick of St. Clair, Pa.

The half-dozen Seals were scheduled to be a featured attraction in Sunday's Armed Forces Day demonstration at the Norfolk Naval Air Station. This jump was just practice.

Parachute rigger Jerry Lee Todd braced his legs outward in the middle of the cargo hold and leaned against the climb.

"Going up!" he exclaimed. "Everyone off at the next floor!"

The other Seals grinned.

The red light came on at 6,000 feet and the cargo hatch ground open.

"Now!" the jumpmaster shouted, tumbling backward over the ramp.

The others didn't hesitate. All jumped backward.

Melochick shouted as he tumbled from the plane. His arm was raised in salute.

Several minutes later word was received that one of the Seals had been a "steamer." His parachute hadn't fully opened after he had ripped the cord after a 25-second delay.

But no word was received until the plane reached the ground that Melochick and Todd had been involved in a jump collision.

Ex-Stripper Given 18 Years In Slaying

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maxine Gross, former strip tease dancer, was sentenced to 18 years in prison today in the slaying of a Filipino physician 2½ years ago.

Judge Charles D. Harris imposed the maximum term after the 23-year-old defendant pleaded guilty to second-degree murder during a 1¾-hour proceeding in Baltimore Criminal Court.

Miss Gross had been convicted of first-degree murder May 29, 1963, in the death of Dr. DeoGracias DeLeon, 29, of Manila, former chief resident in obstetrics and gynecology at St. Joseph's Hospital in Baltimore.

She was sentenced to life imprisonment then but the Maryland Court of Appeals overturned the conviction in July, 1964, and ordered a new trial. The appeals court said a note taken from her apartment was illegally seized and should not have been admitted in evidence.

The beaten body of Dr. DeLeon was found Nov. 25, 1962, in a shower stall of a smoke-filled room in the Mayfair Hotel.

The body was beneath a pile of burning debris. Police said the murder weapon probably was a hammer.

The dark-haired defendant, looking pale and thin in a plain brown cotton dress, bit her lip when Judge Harris announced the sentence as she stood flanked by two defense lawyers.

The judge said Miss Gross would be given credit on her sentence for the time since November, 1962, that she has been in the Maryland Correctional Institution for Women at Jessup, Md. She will serve her sentence there and Judge Harris said she would continue to receive psychiatric treatment, as she requested.

Instead of calling witnesses and having testimony, as in a regular trial, Assistant State's Attorney Morton Sacks read to the court a statement of acts summarizing what 14 witnesses would have said if they had been called to testify.

This was done by agreement of the defendant and lawyers for both sides. The state also agreed to accept the plea of guilty to second-degree murder.

Time Growing Short To Stem A-Arm Spread

LONDON (AP) — An American official said Thursday the world's great powers have until early 1968 to stop the runaway spread of nuclear weapons.

"After that," the informant said, "as many as 20 countries will be able to manufacture cheap but deadly atomic bombs."

Among those 20 countries, President Johnson's administration believes, are India, Pakistan, Japan, Indonesia, Israel, the United Arab Republic and Sweden.

The source said Washington is satisfied that the Soviet Union and France are in general agreement with the Americans and British in their wish for an early nondissemination pact between the nuclear powers.

The true position of Red China, the world's fifth atomic power, still is unknown although Peking's propagandists have assailed both the Russians and Americans for supposedly wanting to preserve their nuclear supremacy.

"We have only two or three years in which to agree on ways of stopping the spread of these weapons," the source said.

With this in mind the United States and Britain are launching an urgent and determined bid to achieve an accord along these lines.

Setting for this attempt probably will be the 17-nation disarmament conference in Geneva, which is expected to resume work this summer.

France, which has been boycotting these talks, wants a conference of the Big Five atomic powers including the Red Chinese.

The American informant, who declined to be identified, indicated that Washington thinks President Charles de Gaulle still is interested in his old idea for U.S., British and French directorate that would guide the global affairs of the West.

Outflow Of Dollars Sharply Reduced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. balance of payments deficit was halved during the first three months of 1965. But Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler said the cutback doesn't mean "The battle has been won."

The dollar outflow for the first quarter was at an annual rate "somewhat over" $3 billion This compared to a rate of about $6 billion during the final quarter of 1964, Fowler told a news conference.

However, he indicated it was too soon to make any long-range prediction on the second quarter.

"We must avoid undue optimism based upon no more than one or two favorable quarters," the secretary said.

The actual dollar outflow during the first quarter was $750 million, seasonally adjusted, Fowler said. Last year the outflow for the last quarter was $1.5 billion.

The treasury secretary said that the reduced dollar outflow during the first quarter was due in part to President Johnson's program of voluntary cooperation by bankers and businessmen. The President has asked them to curb their overseas loans, investments and dollar balances.

While declining to predict how the second quarter might turn out, Fowler said the balance of payments "will show a surplus in March and hopefully also in April."

Jackie Causes Stir At Palace Guard Changing

LONDON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy Thursday made her first public appearance in London since the assassination of her husband — and stole the show from the famed Irish Guards Band.

Strolling in warm spring sunshine with her children, she looked radiant and lovely.

Outside Buckingham Palace she halted to watch the changing of the guard. It was then that the crowd recognized her.

"My God!" gasped one woman, "it's Jackie Kennedy!"

With her two children—Caroline, 7, and John F. Jr., 4—plus her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill and the princess' two children, with a pair of pug dogs, Mrs. Kennedy headed an eye-catching party.

Friday, Queen Elizabeth II and Mrs. Kennedy will dedicate Britain's John F. Kennedy memorial at Runnymede 21 miles southwest of London. Runnymede — where the barons forced King John to sign the Magna Carta on June 15, 1215 — is one of the nation's most hallowed spots.

Mrs. Kennedy put in a thoroughly informal day Thursday.

Arriving Wednesday night with other members of the Kennedy family and friends, Mrs. Kennedy went directly to the London home of her sister, only a few hundred yards from Buckingham Palace.

She was up early with her children, and the Radziwill children, Anthony, 5, and Anna Christina, 4. They made straight for the palace.

As the crowd recognized her, a policeman on duty telephoned inside the palace. Lord Plunkett, a palace official, hurried out, and escorted Mrs. Kennedy inside the palace gates.

Two Seized For Running Md. Casino

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI announced Thursday the arrest of two men accused of operating a plush Maryland gambling casino purportedly patronized by wealthy and well known business and entertainment figures.

The two were identified as Charles "The Blade" Tourine, 59 described as a Cosa Nostra member and a nationally known gambler, and Joseph Francis Nesline, 51.

The FBI said Tourine was arrested in New York and Nesline in Las Vegas, Nev., following their indictment by a federal grand jury in Washington on gambling charges.

John F. Malone, assistant director in charge of the New York FBI office, said the indictment accused them "of engaging in interstate transportation in aid of racketeering through operation of a plush gambling establishment in St. Mary's County, Md."

Malone said a conspiracy count in the indictment charged Tourine with transporting George Taft, the movie actor, D. C., to the gambling spot.

Tourine lives in Miami Beach and has an apartment in New York City.

Nesline lived in Avondale, Md. until recently and has an apartment in Miami Beach, Malone said.

A second indictment returned by the District of Columbia Grand Jury alleges that Nesline, Tourine and 10 other persons illegally operated a gambling establishment known as the Amber Club from Dec. 22, 1961, to Feb. 19, 1963, in Washington.

LBJ's Boyhood Home Is Opened To Public

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Lyndon Johnson's boyhood home, a modest white frame house in this small farm community, was opened to the public Thursday.

"The President and Mrs. Johnson are anxious for you to feel that this house is your home," said federal Judge Homer Thornberry of Austin, in speaking for the President during a brief and simple dedication ceremony. "May it be a source of pleasure and inspiration to you, as it has been to the man who is the leader of our nation."

A White House crew recorded the proceedings then hurried back to Washington to play it for the President and his family.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Make way for a teen-ager's view of Eve—circa 1965.

She wears a gas mask. The top of her hair's made of ivy. As it curls down to her shoulders, it turns into strands of the type used by the mop makers of America.

With a vision like that, who needs nightmares?

It's just art, madame. And it's so good that it won a prize and now hangs among other student art that did the same thing.

"Eve" came from the brushes and paint-box of Robin Barnes, 17, of Phoenix, Ore. You look at it hanging in the Hallmark Gallery in New York and then move on to other winning works of art and get a view of what goes on the minds of top teen-age artists.

The show indicates that, among other things, the teen-agers are concerned about television fatigue, the time-payment trap, car engines and thistles. No missiles.

Each work of art has won a Hallmark honor prize in the nationwide art contest sponsored by Scholastic magazine.

David Strout, Gallery manager and former head of the Kansas City Art Institute, said the show indicates that the good teen-agers can be just as outstanding in a positive way as the bad ones can be in a negative way — holding up banks, stealing cars.

The work that threw a left hook at time payments was done by Charles Kupsczuk, 18, of Irvington, N. J. It was a montage of various credit slogan come-ons: No money down, months to pay, easy credit. He titled the maze "Composition 13"—picking the unlucky number.

Strout said that Don Moyer, of State College, Pa., came closest to a social commentary with his work titled "The Auction."

Among other things, it featured a fish chasing a fish — with an eye to eating same, headless women, a headless man with a hook arm.

"It looks as though it might be a ban the bomb statement," Strout said.

House GOP Raising Big Campaign Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Republican leadership hopes to build a $2-million campaign chest in an effort to increase its membership in the next Congress.

House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, in discussing the drive Wednesday, said about $250,000 already has been raised.

AFL-CIO Says Family Of Four Needs $123 Week For Necessities

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The average American worker now needs $123 a week to provide just "the necessities of life" for a family of four, the AFL-CIO said Wednesday.

A worker would need to earn $3.07 an hour to attain the figure, which works out to $6,418 a year.

"This amount is required to meet the necessities of life," the AFL-CIO said, leaving nothing for luxuries or savings.

The labor federation urged union negotiators to use the new earnings figure in bargaining with management for pay increases. The needed salary requirement was a revision of the Labor Department's family budget for city workers for 1959.

At the start of 1965, the AFL-CIO said, the average worker was far below the needed minimum, having straight-time earnings of only $2.58 an hour.

The retail worker was worse off. His weekly earnings totaled $70.13 - a - week. Construction workers were above the norm with $131.36 a week. But the labor federation pointed out that they suffer many weeks of seasonal unemployment each year.

Not everyone agrees with the AFL-CIO's figures. Some employers have argued that the concept of the family budget is not suited to bargaining purposes. Many families have fewer than four persons. Others often have two or more wage-earners, they say.

But the AFL-CIO contends that a family of four was average. As for working wives, it said that women should not have to work to help pay family bills.

Lung Disease Is Mine Hazard

PITTSBURGH (AP)—One out of 10 miners in the Appalachian soft coal fields is afflicted with a potentially fatal lung disease known as pneumoconiosis, an official of the U. S. Public Health Service said Wednesday.

Dr. Murray C. Brown, chief of the service's occupational health section, disclosed for the first time the results of a 2½ year study at a final session of the American Mining Congress' annual convention.

Dr. Brown told the 600 mine owners and operators the survey in Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama showed more than one out of every five active miners aged 55 to 64 had the disease.

Nearly 40 per cent of the inactive miners in that age group have the disease, he added.

The disease, in its advanced stages, is characterized by breathlessness, wheezing, emphysema and coughing up of black sputum.

Barnacle is the name given to a marine crustacean which in the adult stage lives attached to some other object and is generally protected by calcified plates.

Secrets Of Charm

What Does Your Walk Say About You?

For a young girl, a droop-shouldered, shambling walk is certainly unfortunate. For an older woman, it's disastrous. The younger preson may have good points which at least do something to save her, but the mature woman can't escape the certain stamp of age such a walk puts upon her.

An erect, brisk carriage is young, alert, spirited, graceful — attractive for anyone of any number of years. A slumping stance and gait is old, tired, discouraged, clumsy. There's always grave danger in hunching bad posture because the lungs are crowded and the circulation, digestion, and position of internal organs are affected. And in the case of the older woman, it hastens the settling down into the bones that comes with age and makes her look really old before her time.

Is your walk telling tales about you, tales that aren't true? Good for you if it doesn't stick to the truth if what it says is flattering. Your walk can be very flattering about how old you are. No woman who walks with her head high, her shoulders and chest up and with a light and rhythmic step can look old. But how sad it is to see a young girl hobbling like a crone. She's already lost so much of the bright, appealing look of youth.

The drooping figure sketched can't possibly be you, but are you sure you always—not just sometimes—look exactly like the other sketch? Slumping has a way of becoming an established habit before you know it. Take no chance on it. First learn body alignment, the basis of all good posture and of the young and graceful walk that can do so much to flatter you.

A SUCCESSFUL CAREER CAN BE YOURS if you know the five steps to to take before approaching that personnel director. South Viet Nam Government, Communists Have Manpower Troubles In War

EDITOR'S NOTE—Defections are causing manpower problems for both the Red guerrillas and government forces fighting the war in South Viet Nam. Both sides find their recruits are unwilling soldiers. The following fourth of five AP news analyses of the war in Viet Nam details the conditions on the government and Communist sides.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — In Saigon, many a South Vietnamese seems resigned to the idea — as he might put it — that the Viet Cong are "smarter than our generals and smarter than the long-noses, too." The "long-noses" are the Americans.

More and more Americans pour into Viet Nam. Technically advisers, they also fight. But they are not running the war. They do not command Vietnamese troops and will not unless a joint command is formed.

The influx of new American men, weapons and equipment in some respects raised the morale of veteran, professional Vietnamese units, but at the same time morale is a problem among South Vietnamese civilians, for whom the war long had been something unreal and far away. Now it seems near.

Some people in Saigon, not themselves involved in fighting the war, reacted with worry when they learned of the bombings of North Viet Nam. Some worried because they felt a kinship for North Vietnamese people apart from their dislike for the idea of being ruled by Communists. Others worried because they feared ultimate retaliation in kind against South Viet Nam and perhaps against Saigon itself. Some reflected fear that the extension of the war might make all Viet Nam the cockpit for major conflict among big powers.

People in Saigon know the Viet Cong Communists hold a great deal of South Vietnamese territory. The whole nation from north to south is criss-crossed by Viet Cong defenses, in forests, jungles, villages, along roads. New ones are added all the time as others are discovered by government forces. Always the Viet Cong are busy digging in, consolidating, building fortifications, while the government forces struggle to hold what they have.

Both the government and the Viet Cong face manpower troubles. Viet Cong losses have been heavy. Both sides have suffered losses from defection. Many a peasant impressed into Communist service has little love for it and is ready to take off at the first safe opportunity.

The Vietnamese army faces rising troubles as seasoned troops are lost and must be replaced by recruits. In February there were signs of demoralization in good fighting units which sustained heavy losses. One such had been the 52nd ranger battalion a good Southnamese outfit.

A year ago, the 52nd had an authorized strength of 440 men. Losses to ambushes cut it to 115. It was beefed up to near 300, including 130 new recruits, last December. In their first battle, most of the recruits deserted.

The 52nd was not alone. Recruits have deserted from other infantry outfits. And as good fighters are killed, the manpower available to fill the ranks is often unreliable and unwilling.

The Viet Cong recruits constantly in areas under its control, and often its recruits are unwilling, too. A combination of persuasion, propaganda, terror and the tested Communist system of cell organization is used to keep them in line.

In Saigon and other cities, the government has some difficulties with conscription. "Sleeping on the roof" has become a sort of community sport for some young men. The expression means that when the military police are on the prowl for draft-dodgers, the young men scurry to the roofs and stay there, while old women and Buddhists badger the searchers. The M.P.'s avoid violence because it could mean new demonstrations and trouble — and often abandon the chase.

Young men — anti-Communist and patriotic — still volunteer, but the government must rely largely on conscription. Many a young city man wants no part of the army with its low pay and four or five days leave a year. He can make more as a houseboy for an American officer than he can earn as a non-commissioned officer. Once a houseboy or some other sort of servant, he feels safe.

Many a young city man seems to feel that if he gets into the army, it is because he has been outwitted. There are no slogans to inspire him. His government has been whatever assortment of generals happened to be in control after the latest coup. He is cynical about corruption and the idea that anyone can get away with anything if he has the money to buy his way out.

If he finally gets drafted, he may desert at the first opportunity. Desertion is not harshly punished. If he returns within 14 days he is likely to be excused. But more likely he will hide out.

The South Vietnamese army has an "authorized" strength of 500,000. The word "authorized" is an important qualification. It is difficult to say just what strength it is. The army is supposed to get another 160,000 men this year, but the source of these is the pool of young civilians in the cities, many of them unwilling and undependable.

Soviet Official Hints Viet Red Aid Is On Way

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Henry Shapiro, dean of American correspondents in the Soviet Union, said Wednesday night he was told in Moscow that Russian weapons soon will be shooting at U.S. planes over North Viet Nam.

"We shall soon be shooting at your planes," Shapiro quoted a Soviet official as saying just before he left Moscow a week ago. The veteran Moscow correspondent for United Press International spoke at a meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, a national professional journalistic society.

Shapiro said the Soviet official was presumably making a reference to Russian military aid which was reported en route to North Viet Nam.

"Although the Soviet officials have said there have been many applications from Soviet 'volunteers' for Viet Nam, it is generally believed in Moscow that the Russians would not go beyond sending technical personnel either to handle anti-aircraft equipment or to train the North Vietnamese in using it," Shapiro said.

The UPI newsman said "According to informed sources, after an initial period of difficulty with the Chinese who held up the transit of Soviet supplies to Hanoi, the Russians were reported to have shipped anti-aircraft missiles and other defensive equipment."

He said it was reported in Moscow last month that launching pads for surface-to-air rockets were under construction in the Hanoi area. Soviet aid may also include some fighting aircraft, Shapiro added.

Present American-Soviet regulations hinge on the fighting in Viet Nam. There is currently a strong anti-American campaign in the Soviet press, but the Russian people are still friendly toward the United States, he said.

Shapiro recently was awarded the 1965 Sigma Delta Chi award for foreign correspondence, for his coverage of the overthrow of former Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Concert Booker Missing

BALTIMORE (AP) — Harry Baernstein III, 30-year-old Baltimore concert manager who is president and treasurer of the Central Ticket Agency, was reported missing Thursday.

An appearance of the Continental Opera Company in Baltimore, canceled last night, was sponsored by Baernstein. The company was to have presented three operas and a ballet during the next 10 days at the Lyric Theater but advance ticket sales indicated only one-third of the theater would be filled so the program was canceled.

City Police issued a nationwide alarm for Baernstein after his mother, Mrs. Harry Baernstein Jr., reported him missing about 5:30 a.m. today.

Baernstein was last seen at r[illegible]ednesday, police said, leaving a restaurant a few doors from the Lyric.

Baernstein booked 20 to 25 attractions each season in the Lyric, the Peabody Conservatory concert hall and Baltimore's Civic Center. His agency also handled tickets for the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra.

Baernstein, Baltimore's only full-time local impresario, began working for the symphony without pay in 1952 as a part - time office boy. He was named director of publicity and public relations in 1954 and the next year became assistant to David Gilbert, then head of Central Ticket Agency.

Gilbert died and Baernstein took over the business in 1956.

Can you do that?"

In announcing the reading program, the Board of Education said the new reader, published by Scott Foresman and Co., will "more realistically portray the multi-ethnic nature of American society." 10 Employers Of Lobbyists Prodded

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Secretary of State Lloyd L. Simpkins notified 10 more employers of lobbyists at the Maryland Legislature Thursday to submit fuller expense information.

In all of the cases, the representative was a salaried employe of the firm, but it failed to pro-rate his salary for the time spent lobbying at Annapolis as required by law.

Simpkins earlier had notified 57 employers to complete expense reports which failed in one respect or another to include all information required.

Thursday's action completed a screening of reports filed for 254 registered lobbyists at the session.

On May 4, Simpkins reported 11 firms and organizations to the attorney general for not having submitted any report within 30 days as required by law. All but three of these have submitted statements since then.

Still outstanding were reports from:

The Associated Garbage Hauling Contractors of Allegany County, represented by Thomas N. Berry of Cumberland on legislation to authorize the county commissioners to establish a garbage collection system.

The Blanew - Sparrows Point Branch of the NAACP, represented by LeRoy Whitmore of Dundalk on civil rights legislation.

Benny Bass Inc. of Mt. Rainer, represented by Francis X. Gaegler Jr. on Prince Georges County liquor legislation.

Escapes To West

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berlin police Wednesday reported that a 30-year-old East Berlin militiaman swam the Spree River to seek asylum in the West. The refugee was a member of a factory "fighting group," a militia composed of workers trusted by the Communists.

Md. Racial Law Violated

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Maryland Interracial Commission found Thursday that Crivella's Bar and Grill of Silver Spring and Leonard's Restaurant of Baltimore violated state law by denying service to Negroes.

Representatives of both places based their defense on contentions that their places have bigger receipts from alcoholic beverages than from food and therefore are exempt from the public accommodations law.

The commission discarded this. In the case of Crivella's, it also found factors outweighing testimony by the Negro plaintiff that she had been served at the place.

The plaintiff, Mrs. Minnie L. Blair of (4419 Third St., N. W.) Washington, D. C., said she received service on some date before being denied service last Feb. 4.

Mrs. Blair also testified under cross-examination that she had picketed the place on other occasions "to notify people that place did not serve Negroes."

Andrew W. Starratt Jr., lawyer for Crivella's, told the commission his client "has served lots of colored people."

The commission was told by Ronald Blavatt, its investigator in the case, that Crivella felt organized integrationists had made him a target.

Thyme, popular seasoning of today, was used as incense for their temples by the ancient Greeks.

Sunpapers, Guild Remain Deadlocked

BALTIMORE (AP) — Strike settlement talks failed again Thursday to move the Baltimore Sun and the American Newspaper Guild closer to agreement.

Gilbert Lee, federal mediator, said representatives from the Sun and the striking Guild met for nearly three hours and adjourned subject to call.

It was the sixth bargaining session since the strike began April 17.

Reaction Of Dominican People To Civil War Mixed

EDITOR'S NOTE — AP Special Correspondent William L. Ryan is touring the provinces of the Dominican Republic to find out what people think about the revolution in Santo Domingo.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

SANTIAGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Rumors flew thick and fast in this second-largest Dominican city early this week.

Santiago seemed haunted. Under a dawn-to-duck curfew, imposed after army forces blasted Radio Norte and its violent rebel agitation out of operation, the city anxiously awaited reports from the capital, Santo Domingo, where a rebellion has brought bloodshed and massive U.S. intervention.

The reports from numerous sources which could not be checked, said:

—There would be mass demonstrations dominated by Castroites and other Communists.

—The United States would send Marines to the north — but all signs indicate it won't.

—There was a heavy traffic in smuggled arms in the north.

There may be some substance to these reports. To get to Santiago from Santo Domingo on the main road, I had to go through nine army-police checkpoints bristling with guns, and more checkpoints inside Santiago. Each automobile was stopped and examined closely.

One hears all sorts of estimates of Communist-Castroite strength in Santiago and Puerto Plata, the nation's second port city. Some say the extreme left could raise a force of 5,000 young men and would do so if it had the arms for them. Others consider the Communist-Castroite strength relatively small, although all concede it has a potential for mischief.

Among the middle class and the businessmen there is worry that should elections be held soon as a result of the mess in Santo Domingo, the extreme leftists would win.

They say time is needed to correct economic woes so that the moderates would have a better chance. The economic woes have been here, uncorrected, for many a year and forgotten until the crisis suddenly brought the prospect of a highly unpleasant future to the middle class.

At the Fortaleza, army headquarters, a big crowd of youths demonstrated loudly for weapons and not a soldier was in sight. The only visible authorities were a few traffic policemen.

No leader from the left, center or right has appeared to capture the imagination of the youth. The present crisis indicates, however, that there are those in the north who would like to channel the young men's frustrations and thirst for glory into destructive purposes.

In the north, the distribution of weapons to civilians is widely regarded as a tactic smacking of Fidel Castro's guerrilla warfare. It is suggested that because in a number of cities at the same moment crowds demanded arms — as they did and received arms in Santo Domingo — some sort of Castro-like organization is being attempted.

Dates Are Set For Nurse Exam

Applications and further information may be obtained by writing Sister M. Terence, R.N., director, School of Nursing, Kings Daughters Hospital, East King Street, Martinsburg.

Army Team Claims 93 Parachute Marks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Thanks mainly to an Army team known as the Golden Knights, the United States now holds or claims 93 of a possible 128 world record precision parachute jumps.

The Defense Department said the competition squad of Golden Knights, commanded by 1st Lt. Jack C. Helms of Kannapolis, N.C., set 60 records in a series of day and night jumps at Lincoln, Calif., in March and April.

The jumps were from four heights ranging from 600 to 2,000 meters at ground targets measuring only one meter (about one yard) square. Records are determined by measuring the landing distance from the target.

The Pentagon said that if all the claims are recognized, the United States will hold 93 records to 21 for Russia, five for East Germany, five for Czechoslovakia, two for Bulgaria, and one for Rumania.

Sitter Nears End Of First Month Atop Flagpole

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI)—"This would be a great job if it weren't for the seagulls."

So said Richard "Dixie" Blandy, a 62-year-old flagpole sitter from New Orleans Wednesday as he neared the end of the first month atop a 56-foot flagstaff in Stockholm's Groenalund (Green Grove) amusement park.

"I spend my time up here sleeping, looking at people down on the ground and chatting with the birds," he said.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I know people who read your column even though they don't read one other thing. Will you kindly print this letter for the benefit of mothers whose young children must wear glasses?

Do people think that just because a child has an eye problem that he is also deaf? My son is seven years of age. He recently had surgery on his eyes and now he must wear glasses.

Although the boy has worn the glasses for only two weeks, already the following remarks have been made in his presence:

"Does your son mind wearing glasses? I had to wear those blamed things when I was a child and I hated them." Also: "What a pity! Do the kids at school call him four-eyes?" And this: "Isn't it sad that the boy has to wear glasses? Whenever I see a youngster with those ugly things on it just breaks my heart."

This morning a man at the bus stop offered this: "I'll bet that kid will keep you broke fixing his glasses. Mine used to break every other week."

Not one child has made an unkind or thoughtless remark. It is only adults who don't know better. Can you come up with something a mother can say to these stupid oafs?

—CALIFORNIA

DEAR CALIF: Try this: "We are very proud of Johnny. He understands it is important to wear his glasses and that he take care of them. And now let's talk about something else."

CONFIDENTIAL TO IS IT RESPECTABLE: Any honest employment is respectable. People are sometimes not respectable. This type of work does attract tramps but no girl needs to be a tramp just because she does this type of work.

No teen-ager is as confident as he appears. Get clued in. Send for Ann Landers's booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

City Police Are Prepared For Weekend

Cumberland will be invaded this coming weekend but the city police are not concerned. In fact, they are "ready and waiting."

Police Commissioner William V. Keegan said that extra men are being called to help with the traffic situation for the local sports-car races which start today at Municipal Airport. Two shifts, he said, will work during the peak traffic periods Saturday and Sunday.

Police, according to Mr. Keegan, will be stationed at strategic intersections on the two main arteries leading to the airport. The commissioner also said the Cumberland Contracting Company is making an effort to open a third lane on the new downtown bridge connecting Wineow Street with the Industrial Boulevard.

The Cumberland Lions Club, co-sponsor of the sports-car races, has been high in its praise of the City Police Department for the manner in which it has handled traffic for the event the past several years.

Scouts To Hold Skating Revue

The Springtime Roll-Along sponsored by several local Girl Scout Troops will be held at Moonglo, Bedford Road, Saturday at 1 p.m.

Eighty-six Girl Scouts including three Brownies will receive proficiency certificates in roller skating. The three Brownies will receive skating pins and the 86 Intermediate scouts will receive merit badges.

Linda Gauthier of Cresaptown will serve as mistress of ceremonies and heading the revue will be Donna Turner, city, and Delores Imes, LaVale. The revue will include demonstrations in skating proficiency, followed by the Girl Scout ceremony including the presentation of the colors, pledge and promise and the awards court.

Mrs. Rosalie J. Godwin, troop leader of Intermediate Troop 23 and Miss Delores Turner of Troop 13 have been the scout leaders in charge of the 12 weeks course, leading to the skating proficiency awards.

Two Drivers

Detective Frank Bohn, the first witness called by the state's attorney, said that while driving up Oldtown Road on the one-way section between Virginia and Grand avenues about 12:55 a. m. September 19 he observed Mason driving the wrong way down the hill. He turned around and stopped Mason at the intersection of Oldtown Road and Virginia Avenue. He said there was an odor of alcohol on Mason's breath and he staggered slightly when he got out of his car.

Other policemen who testified for the state were Officer James Hite, Officer Raymond Valentine, Officer David Hutt, Officer Glen Voils and Sgt. Warren Brehm.

Miller Bowen, Mason's attorney, called three witnesses, including the defendant. Robert Reinhard and John Topper both testified that they had played poker with Mason and several other men who belong to the same club at the home of Max Bastian at 801 Louisiana Avenue the night of September 18.

They said the host provided some whisky and they all mixed their own drinks. They said no one had more than two or three drinks because they were more interested in playing poker. They stopped playing about midnight and then had some sandwiches and coffee. Both defense witnesses testified that Mason has a bad back and for this reason easily could stagger immediately after getting out of his car.

Mason testified that he did not recall seeing the one-way sign on Oldtown Road which apparently had been placed there a short time before.

Assistant State's Attorney J. Frederick Sharer prosecuted the Sisk case and John F. Somerville of Keyser was Sisk's attorney.

Water Line Bids Asked

Bids for a contract which will increase water pressure in the Bedford Street area will be opened by the Mayor and Council on June 1 at 10 a.m.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said the contract will include labor, equipment and materials for laying 1,090 feet of 10-inch high pressure water line from the McNamee Hill water tank to the intersection of Frederick and Fectig Avenue, where it will be tied in to an existing 12-inch line.

The project was specifically designed to increase water pressure in the higher sections of Bedford Street but will result in an improvement in pressure in the entire Bedford-Frederick street area.

The speed of sound is generally placed at 1,088 feet per second at sea level at 32 degrees Fahrnheit.

Gas Drilling Continues Near Augusta

Drilling work is being continued by the Hampshire Gas Company, which is affiliated with the Washington Gas Light Company, in a serch for natural gas in the Augusta area of Hampshire County.

Officials of the firm said that 40,000 acres of land has been leased and that three wells have been drilled and a fourth started. This was termed "wildcatting".

One of the wells was dry, some gas was hit on the second well, more sizeable quantities of gas on the third well. The most favorable well so far is one about five miles north of Augusta on the farm of Mrs. Laney Belt and her two sons, Robert and Roscoe.

This well was purposely set afire as part of the "bleeding" process, officials said.

Extensive engineering studies will be required before it can be determined the extent of the gas deposits in that area, it was pointed out.

The drilling is being done in the Oriskany sand strata which usually has some gas deposits.

REBECCA ANN YATES

Poem Written By ACC Student Is Published

Miss Rebecca Ann Yates, freshman at Allegany Community College, has been notified that her poem, "Tomboy," will be published in the National Anthology of College Poetry, according to George A. Hazen, English instructor.

Miss Yates is the second student this year in the English department at Allegany Community College to be honored by having an original poem published in the Anthology. Miss Pamela Kay Wolfe, sophomore, had her poem published in February.

Miss Yates graduated from Ursuline Academy in 1963 and attended Union Memorial Nurses School in Baltimore for one year. She is enrolled in the arts and science curriculum at ACC and plans to major in English and minor in art at a four year college after graduating.

While in high school Miss Yates was honored by having her poem, "To A Snowflake," published in the Anthology of High School Poetry.

She is active in the dramatics club and is performing in a one-act play at the college this week. The play "Ario Da Capo" is under the direction of Mr. Hazen.

Miss Yates is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Williams 3d, 106 Le Fevre Road.

Paving Work Being Done On Wineow Bridge

The Cumberland Contracting Company has started blacktopping the southern approach of the bridge over the B&O Railroad Company tracks at Wineow Street.

In order to make the one dual traffic lane better for the expected heavy use during the National Sports Car Races at the Municipal Airport this weekend, the 12-foot wide stretch from the present dual lane to the concrete median barrier is being paved.

A bituminous spreader machine laid the stone aggregate sub-base in recent days and a stabilizer was applied. The blacktopping goes atop the sub-base.

Officials of the contracting company said that if the weather remains good the blacktopping of the northern approaches including turn-offs into the A & P supermarket and other businesses in that section will be completed by the end of next week.

The concrete curbing and medial sections are just about complete and some sub-base material has been laid.

The State Roads Commission has also contracted for the seating of guardrails on the bridge. When both dual lanes are opened to traffic it will eliminate some of the slowdown of vehicles headed south on the Industrial Boulevard.

Only one of the dual lanes has been in use. Installation of mercury vapor type lights along the bridge and Industrial Boulevard from Virginia Avenue to Williams Street will also increase the safety factor for traffic, officials of the SRC stated.

Meanwhile, the Phoenix Construction Corporation has almost completed the grading work on the Cumberland Thruway section from Willowbrook Road to Maryland Avenue. Company officials said this work is 99 per cent finished.

The Cumberland Contracting Company will start next week applying the stone base preparatory to the application of bituminous concrete. The concrete curbing and gutters will be constructed and company officials said the blacktopping would probably be started in a month or so.

Work on the major section of the Thruway, from Maryland Avenue to South Lee Street on the West Side is expected to be started in about a week by the Peter Kiewit and Sons Company of Omaha, Neb.

Razing of structures in the path of the Thruway will be done and there will be relocation of utilities.

Open Houses Planned Here In Observance Of Armed Forces Day

Local Navy, Marine and Army Reserve units will observe Armed Forces Day Saturday with "open house" programs.

There will be an open house at the U. S. Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Training Center on McKaig's Hill Saturday from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Anyone interested may attend and special invitation has been extended to parents, wives and friends of men belonging to the reserve units. Visitors will be conducted around the facilities to the see the equipment used in the training programs.

Among the honors won by the local Naval Reserve groups during the past 16 years are the Forrestal Trophy for Surface Divisions, the J. J. Manning Trophy for SeaBee Divisions and several first place awards in Fifth Naval District competition.

The Forrestal and Manning awards signify that the local units held first place in the United States, according to Lt. Cmdr. Edwin E. Zendler, commander of the Cumberland installation. Winning these honors is an unusual distinction, he added, because of the units' remoteness from extensive Navy facilities such as are found at installations nearer fleet operations.

"Earning the awards in spite of this handicap is a credit to the quality of local youth and to the outstanding support given to the Naval Reserve by the citizens of Cumberland and the surrounding area," Lt. Cmdr. Zendler said.

This year the Naval Reserve unit will observe its 50th anniversary.

The public is invited to "open house" Saturday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. at the Allegany County Soldiers' Memorial U. S. Army Reserve Center, Cresaptown.

The center is located between Celanese Fibers Company and the branch office of First-Second National Bank and Trust Company.

Participating will be local members of the Army Reserve, Marine Corps Reserve, Civil Air Patrol, and Keyser, W. Va., Army National Guard who will have displays of some of their weapons and equipment.

There will be a variety of weapons to view, including a 105 towed howitzer, .30 and .50 caliber machine guns, and a 3.5 rocket launcher from Battery C, 1st Howitzer Battalion, 201st Artillery, Keyser Army National Guard; a .45 caliber sub-machine gun from HQ & HQ Company, 1st Battalion, 115th Armor, Cumberland Army National Guard; an M-1 Garand rifle from Company B, 336th Military Police Battalion, Lonaconing Army Reserve; .30 caliber carbines and .45 caliber pistols from the Cumberland Army Reserve units; and the new 7.62 M-14 rifle and M-60 machine gun from the Marine Corps Reserve.

Other displays will include an Ordnance parts van, field kitchen equipment, field telephones and switchboard in operation, trucks, jeeps, and personal field gear. The Civil Air Patrol will have a radio on display. There will be a mannequin in the uniform of a Special Forces guerrilla paratrooper.

Inside the Reserve Center can be seen the classrooms, offices, arms room, supply cages, assembly hall, rifle range and garage. There will be motion pictures shown on the Armed Forces, most of which will be of general interest to all members of the family, particularly to those parents whose children are serving or may some day enter the Armed Forces.

Activities will close with the Color Guard of Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, participating in a Retreat ceremony. A cannon of Civil War vintage, manned by persons in Civil War dress, will be fired at this closing ceremony. The cannon is a reproduction of a Mountain Howitzer 12-pounder, M-1841, built and owned by Battery C, 2d Maryland Light Artillery, U.S. Volunteers, a reactivated Civil War unit.

Wiley Ford Firemen To Serve Meals

Wiley Ford Volunteer Fire Company will serve both breakfast and supper for fans attending the National Sports Car Races at Municipal Airport this weekend.

Breakfast will be served Saturday and Sunday beginning at 4:30 a. m. and supper Saturday beginning at 4 p. m.

Man Is Guilty In Appeal Case

A jury in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday found Elmer James Carder guilty of failing to obtain a home improvement license required of contractors who do house repairs and remodeling.

He had appealed a decision of Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt who found him guilty of the charge in Trial Magistrates Court.

Associate Judge Harold E. Naughton fined Carder $150 and costs, or 90 days in lieu of the fine. On a second charge of petty larceny, Carder was found guilty by Judge Naughton and imposed a suspended 90-day term in the county jail.

How To Remedy The Doctor Shortage?

There remains an acute labor shortage in various skilled and technical fields, despite occasional outgivings by some government and business leaders to the effect that the prosperity now encompassing the country could come to an end if certain factors made their appearance.

Nor does this shortage exist only in the manuel or skilled labor categories. Certain professions are notoriously short of qualified personnel. Engineers and teachers are two of the most widely discussed fields of professional shortages. In both callings the shortage has produced an upswing in salaries and interest among high school and college students. There should be an alleviation of the demand soon.

Certain other professions, in particular the medical profession, are not so easily satisfied. It is difficult to remember a time when the field of medicine had an abundance of talent.

The United States has always had a shortage of doctors, it now does not have sufficient numbers and according to several surveys, there will be a greater shortage in years to come.

Two of the main factors involved in the doctor shortage are the rigid scholastic requirements and large sum of money needed to complete a medical education. After a doctor earns his sheepskin, he faces several more years of internship, residency and, perhaps, military service.

Obviously the strict requirements for a profession responsible for human lives cannot be lowered, nor can the number of years required in training. There is only one feasible way in which the monetary needs of prospective medical students can be supplemented, and that is through increased scholarship endowments from organizations and individuals.

Unless and until additional medical scholarships become available, many capable students will be denied entry into one of the most demanding professions.

Dodd Challenges The Press

Senator Tom Dodd, the Connecticut Democrat, has been taking out after the press because it "has created a public image of the situation" in Vietnam "which is in certain respects inaccurate, in other respects imbalanced and in still other respects inadequate or even blank." These harsh words are from a Dodd speech at the Cleveland Press Club. They produced an adverse reaction among some newspapermen, mostly sotto voce. A Midwest editor, hearing about the speech on a visit to New York, shook his head and said, "Senator Dodd has been reading the Eastern papers."

Dodd, however, as this columnist has good reason to know, never speaks on foreign policy without considerable meditation based on a combination of personal experience and exhaustive research. His remarks on the treatment of news about Southeast Asia followed a trip to Saigon where, as an aide who went along with Dodd put it, "things look twenty-thousand per cent more hopeful than they do when you read about the war in the United States."

Since a visiting Senator would naturally receive red-carpet treatment in Saigon, the "twenty-thousand per cent" figure is undoubtedly subject to discount. Even so, Dodd has had an amazing record for being at least ninety per cent right in his prophecies in the foreign affairs field.

Thus the Senator was among the first to say outright that the Ghana of Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah, the "redeemer," was a Communist country. He was criticized severely for this, but his information proved quite accurate when, in 1963, Nkrumah openly supported the Communist-led insurrection in the Congo.

Dodd defended Moise Tshombe when the U.S., yielding to pressure, backed the UN's shortsighted campaign to oust Tshombe from his home province of Katanga. The Senator later found himself in a position to say "I told you so" when the Congo summoned Tshombe, as the only available Congolese leader of any ability, to take charge of the country as a whole in its efforts to pull itself out of a quagmire and fight off Communist-supported subversion.

Dodd has all along set his face against what he calls the "policy of conciliation." He objected when we pressured the government of the Netherlands into ceding West New Guinea, a "territory that was in no sense part of Indonesia," to Sukarno. Our "conciliationism" toward Sukarno, expressed in terms of money grants totaling almost a billion dollars, has resulted in the seizure of USIA offices and the confiscation of American-owned industrial establishments inside Indonesia.

The "policy of conciliation" toward Nasser's Egypt, also denounced by Dodd, has bought only contempt for us in Cairo. "Since the close of the war," says Dodd, "we have pumped into Egypt almost one billion dollars in aid, including $715 million worth of PL 480 food shipments. Without these shipments the Nasser regime could not possibly have kept alive. Nasser has repaid us for all this in coin very similar to Sukarno's."

Because of his record for accurate analysis and prophecy, anything that Dodd has to say about the progress of the war in Vietnam, and the reporting of it in the American press, is certainly worth thinking about. The Senator couldn't have been talking about the whole American press when he let fly with his criticisms the other day in Cleveland. For he has had his own newspaper informants on the state of affairs in Southeast Asia, notably Marguerite Higgins (who was born in Hong Kong and has a special feel for Asiatic realities); and the Dodd version of our "smashing victories over the Viet Cong in the Mekong Delta" has certainly been printed in some newspapers. But even though some press people have reacted negatively to the inclusiveness of Dodd's criticism, he has yet to reveal anything except a cool head—and when he criticizes someone it is not out of animus.

Need For Second Thoughts In Times Of Crisis

By Joseph Alsop

LONDON — The ugly, unhappy business in Santo Domingo is another, especially clear proof of a rule that should always be borne in mind by all Americans who have a public voice, whether in the Senate or in the press or elsewhere.

When the going gets rough—so the rule runs—think twice or even three times about what you say; for what you say will always be used to embarrass or obstruct your own government's policy, if this is at all possible.

In the present instance, the Times of London appears to have gone through the U.S. press with a fine-toothed comb, with special emphasis on its great opposite number in New York, to find means of presenting the American action in Santo Domingo in the worst possible light in its news columns.

A good many other British newspapers have followed suit. Using the same raw material of American public statements critical of President Johnson's decision, but also using far more freedom of invention, the French television and radio networks and the more Gaullist newspapers in Paris have managed to sound pretty much like the Communist East German radio, though with a greater knack for snide insinuation.

The timing of the crisis in Santo Domingo, in the most delicate phase of the U.S. effort in Vietnam, could not have been more unlucky. It has made President Johnson appear trigger happy as well as Marine happy, so to say—which could hardly be further from the President's real frame of mind.

From this distance, the rights and wrongs are quite impossible to judge. But even on this side of the Atlantic it is all too easy to see that the problem, which is obviously bad enough in itself, has been and is being rendered far worse by those who have forgotten the rule above cited. The outcome is what finally matters, of course, but inflaming the problem also makes a good outcome more difficult.

In the Vietnamese case, Senators like J. W. Fulbright, Mike Mansfield and even Ernest Gruening and Wayne Morse have been made to sound like the true voice of America, whereas they represent no more than 10 per cent of the whole Senate. In the case of Santo Domingo, dissenters in the press have been used for the same purpose. The result is a gravely distorted picture.

The habit of criticizing the government's actions overseas, without much thought about the effects abroad, is deeply rooted in America. This is only natural; for we were still in the happy position of a country that did not have and did not need a foreign policy as recently as the time when this reporter went to work in Washington.

In those days, and for long after the Second World War, most British politicians and other persons with public voices still retained the great-power habit of trying to give their government the breaks when the going got really rough. And if a personal word is permissible, this reporter is convinced that this is the necessary thing to do, within the limits of honesty and truth, when the government wields vast power and carries heavy world responsibilities, as the U.S. government now does.

The question raised here is of extreme interest and importance nowadays. Curiously enough, it is of even more importance to the newspaper business than to the professional politicians for the rather simple reason that the politicians cannot do as much damage. No Wayne Morse-like series of senatorial utterances has ever had the unfortunate impact of the famous Herbert Matthews series on Fidel Castro, or of the innocent but highly biased reporting from wartime China, or of some of the more self-satisfied reporting in the earlier period in Vietnam.

What, then, are the appropriate limits? Still speaking personally, this reporter, after much thought on the matter, would define the limits roughly as follows:

On the one hand, in the more common situation, when the government is ducking a challenge it probably ought to meet, the limits are very wide indeed. No special harm is done overseas by pointing out that the government is not doing this, that or the other which may need doing. If the facts are correctly presented, the result is at worst a minor, soon forgotten contribution to the national debate.

On the other hand, when the government has committed itself to a delicate and dangerous course of action, the limits are far more narrow. The need to tell the truth is still the same; but the official view of the truth needs to be given the benefit of the doubt until decisive proof to the contrary is forthcoming. The motives and aims of the government's action must be given the benefit of the doubt in just the same way, at any rate, until the end is in sight.

The difference between situation one and situation two is exactly like the difference between arguing where to go before a journey begins and persistently back-seat driving after the journey reaches the most perilous mountain road. The back-seat driver may believe that he will later have the right to say, "I told you so." But this surely must always be a small consolation for the spectacle of the United States in defeat.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

POLITICAL OPPORTUNISTS—One political figure, strongly opposed to the Johnson administration, found a way to capitalize on the income tax situation.

Johnson had invited the mayors of the nation's 115 largest cities to a dinner in Washington. Only 114 showed up. The lone absentee was J. Bracken Lee, mayor of Salt Lake City, Utah, an ultra-conservative and supporter of Barry Goldwater's presidential effort last year. Mayor Lee explained that it was tax collection time and he couldn't afford $700 for the trip.

FRIENDLY GESTURE?—President Johnson may be on the "outs" with the White House press corps, but he's done them a big favor. He's refurbished their "lounge" for the first time in more than 30 years.

White House reporters have a press room at their disposal, but it has become so cluttered with desks, cubby holes, booths and telephones that there's no place to sit down and read the papers or have a quiet chat with their peers.

Instead, for many years, reporters and photographers have used the numerous lounge chairs and sofas in the lobby of the Executive Office as their hangout. Obviously, it was a little the worse for wear and tear.

Now, after the remodeling job, the lobby has all the appearance of a swank men's club. There are soft lights, plush green carpeting, conversational groupings of olive green leather sofas, chairs and hassocks. Imposing brass lamps rest on various styles of tables. Still ahead are tasteful paintings to be hung on the newly-painted white walls.

About the only thing reporters complain about is that the light bulbs are of insufficient strength to project enough illumination for reading. But then, electricity has been at a premium ever since Lyndon Johnson became president.

Story Of A 'Heart Attack' With A Happy Ending

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Anxiety is the most frequent cause of hyperventilation. Symptoms occur because the victim breathes rapidly and loses too much carbon dioxide from the body.

It is normal to sigh or breathe deeply when under stress. When it is repeated because of continuing anxiety or when it becomes a habit, signs of hyperventilation develop. The individual becomes light-headed, tired, and may develop a sensation of suffocation. This may be followed by numbness and tingling of the arms and legs, along with dizziness and blurred vision. By this time the victim is frightened and breathes deeper and faster. Chest pain, muscle spasms, and fainting may follow.

Dr. Hugh K. Sealy of Macon, Ga., told of a middle-aged man who developed chest pain and blacked out after an episode of over-breathing. The distress was mistaken for a heart attack and he was hospitalized for eight weeks and out of work for three more months. He developed a second attack several months later and a similar diagnosis was made. He was retired at age 43 as completely disabled.

This did not solve his problem because anxiety is more acute when there is nothing to do. The chest pain was not typical of cardiac distress and always preceded shortness of breath.

He was nervous with sweaty palms, dilated pupils, and frequent sighing. All the heart tests were normal. Dr. Sealy then conducted the acid test for hyperventilation. He asked the man to breathe deeply for a short time and his pain was reproduced within a few minutes. This took place in the office and was not associated with exertion, occupation, or excitement. Further questioning revealed that his first attack occurred while he was having marital difficulties that ended in divorce.

Breathing into a paper bag prevents the loss of carbon dioxide and usually aborts symptoms. Permanent relief follows treatment of the basic emotional problem.

BONE MARROW

B. R. writes: A neighbor has become ill and says her bone marrow is drying up. Can you give some information on this condition?

REPLY

"Drying of bone marrow" is a lay term for a variety of blood disorders. I've heard the expression used to describe pernicious anemia and aplastic anemia. If the function of the bone marrow is deficient, abnormalities of blood cell production may occur.

LIVER CONGESTION

J. S. writes: What are the symptoms of liver congestion?

REPLY

The distress varies from a constant ache to colicky pain in the upper part of the abdomen. It is caused by stretching of the capsule that surrounds the liver. There is very little discomfort after the capsule is stretched, provided the liver continues to be enlarged because of congestion.

ITCHY TOES

A reader writes: I have a terrible itching between my toes. What could this be?

REPLY

Ringworm, perspiration, or an allergy to a substance in the shoes or hose.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Herb Caen tells of the American exporter who was at the airport, bound for Paris, when he remembered he had failed to equip himself with some negotiable French currency. He phoned his brand new secretary, "Get me fifty dollars worth of francs and high-tail it out here." She arrived breathlessly twenty minutes later with 200 hot dogs.

Loquacious V. P. Hubert Humphrey won the hearts of all the ladies at a Women's National Press dinner when, on the eve of Inauguration Day, he told them, tongue-in-cheek, "President Johnson has given me only two instructions for the next four years. Number One is that I must keep my eyes open. As for Number Two—well, I don't think I have to mention that!"

General Accounting Office Under Investigation For Doing Its Job

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — If you're interested in saving your tax money, the most intriguing hearing to watch on Capital Hill is an investigation of the agency that is trying to save you money—the General Accounting Office.

Ironically it is under fire because it has done an excellent job of saving money.

Also it's ironic that the man who has maneuvered this investigation is Rep. Chet Holifield, the onetime rip-roaring liberal Democrat from Montebello, Calif.

Holifield has long posed as the crusading friend of the taxpayer and the little fellow. Now he's lined up behind big business. He championed Dr. Linus Pauling of Cal Tech when that Nobel Prize scientist was under fire for advocating a test ban treaty. He went to bat to change Congressional red tape so the Dixiecrat-dominated House Rules Committee could not bottle up legislation.

This week, however, Chet Holifield is strangely found on the side of luxurious shuffleboard courts, table tennis facilities, a scenic mall, outdoor dining rooms for the Aerospace Corp., all paid for by the taxpayer. Far more important, he finds himself on the side of $12,000,000 waste on the El Segundo project in Southern California, and on the side of Lockheed and about sixty big missile-space contractors.

Unholy Alliance

What the Congressman from Southern California is doing is investigating the one agency of government, the General Accounting Office, which has had the courage to put the finger on defense contractors and their alliance with the Pentagon. Time after time GAO has sent its accountants into these big plants and come up with millions of dollars in waste. It has saved the taxpayers millions. Yet Holifield is now putting the General Accounting Office on the griddle for doing what it's supposed to do.

The further amazing fact is that under the rules of Congress, Holifield has no real authority to conduct this investigation. He is chairman of a subcommittee of the House Operations Committee entrusted with investigating military waste and mismanagement.

Instead he haas gone into reverse and is investigating the GAO because it did what he was supposed to do.

In order to understand the importance of this peculiar switch you have to realize that the General Accounting Office is the only agency of government which can go over the heads of the Pentagon or the White House or any executive department and examine anything it wants to for monetary waste.

Czar Over Spending

It reports direct to Congress, not to the White House or the executive. It was established by Congress because Congress suspected the executive departments were getting away with too much of the taxpayer's money. For that reason and so that the General Accounting Office would not be subject to pressure or intimidation, its chief, the Comptroller General, cannot be fired. He holds office longer than any other government executive except federal judges — fourteen years.

The present Comptroller General, Joseph Campbell, was appointed by Eisenhower and neither President Johnson nor the Congress can remove him. He was treasurer of Columbia University when Ike picked him, and he has done a fearless job, regardless of whether he hits Democrats or Republicans.

Backstopping him is Frank H. Weitzel, a career man, who has worked his way up from the bottom and knows government red tape and bureaucracy perhaps better than anyone in Washington.

When Eisenhower was in office, his own appointee, Joe Campbell, often embarrassed the Ike administration with his disclosures. Frequently he went after the big contractors whom the Pentagon seldom touches, and exposed the alliance between the armed services, the retired generals and admirals, and the defense contractors, which Eisenhower warned against in his last message to the American people. Ike touched partially on this again last week in reviewing the end of World War II in Europe.

But this week, Chet Holifield, the onetime liberal Congressman from Montebello, Calif., has put himself in the position of being the defender of military waste by investigating the No. 1 policeman against waste.

Just how he got himself in this position is an important inside story to be told in an early column.

Merry-Go-Round

Congressional leaders who confer once a week with LBJ gripe good-naturedly, "We used to get ham and eggs under Kennedy. Now we go down to the White House at 10 a.m. and all we get is Sanka. The President won't even give us coffee." . . . The special corps of expert Negro butlers available for part-time service at the White House has been overworked lately. Said one of them, "We always enjoy working at the White House, but we're glad to see the President is going to set up a special office in Texas. Now we'll get a breather." . . . LBJ has been paying for the extra entertainment out of his own pocket. The official White House entertainment budget has been exhausted.

'His' Astronauts – Part II

LOUISVILLE, Kentucky—There is a half mile run up a country road between the black fences which surround Hermitage Farm and, on a knob of emereald grass the Georgian house stands alone, the round white columns at attention on the front porch. This, and the 800 acres around it, belong to a leathery-looking horse breeder named Warner L. Jones Jr. It is one of the most successful in the country.

Across the rolling hills, dotted with white dogwood and slow-budding oaks, are 240 racing thoroughbreds and an assortment of bewildered foals. There are 18 miles of black fence — four broad boards high — and 15 big barns, painted in black with red trim. Every stall in every barn is raked out and swept out every morning as the tongue of the sun licks the lime Jello of the landscape.

Breeding thoroughbred racing horses is a delicate business. Jones started in 1936 with one barn, one fence, one mare and no stallion. He had one additional asset: a farm foreman named Scipio Napier, a short man who wears his hands in the hip pockets of his slacks, a hat low over his eyes, and a face like a gross of busted shoelaces.

Scipio knows horses as few men do. He is mother, father, physician, worrier, friend, obstetrician and disciplinarian to 229 mares and 11 stallions. When he thinks a colt is ready to run, Napier gentles him into the first saddle, the first bridle, and the first boy on his back and makes him run a narrow spongy track seven-eights of a mile long.

The yearling may not want to do it, but Napier knows more than the baby and he knows that the baby is bred to run fast and steady. He talks to him, strokes the flanks, but he never gives him a lump of sugar. And yet, Napier is so afraid that the boys who work for him might to feed a horse that he orders feed bags filled and hung outside of every stall on the farm hours before mealtime.

Then he drives his dusty station wagon from barn to barn to barn, just checking. The Jones system produces winning horses. In 1953, Hermitage Farm's Dark Star beat Native Dancer to win the Kentucky Derby. Last year, when the farm's yearlings went on sale at Keeneland, Mrs. Velma Morrison paid $170,000 —a world's record — for a son of Bold Ruler named One Bold Bid.

There is a tanbark barn for mating brood mares. The thoroughbred is cinched to one side of a board fence. A male horse named Trigger is tied to the other side of the fence. He is called a teaser and his sole function is to find out if the brood mare is ovulating. If she is not, there will be no pregnancy. She makes the decision.

Trigger flirts, reaches over the board, rubs muzzles and sometimes nips her on the neck. If she shies away, kicks at the boards, or tries to rear or hurt herself, she is led back to her stall. If she succumbs to the blandishments, then Trigger is led away and a thoroughbred is brought in. To date, the teaser has been rejected two thousand times.

Gestation for a mare is eleven months. She averages one foal per year. All horses are one year old on January first, no matter what the actual birthdate, so mating at Hermitage goes on from February 15 until June 15th, so that the babies will be born between January and May, and will be ready for sale as yearlings the following January.

Most of the stallions are mated once a day throughout the Spring. There is an old gaffer named Royal Gem, who is 23-years of age and who becomes a potential daddy every other day. Throughout the pregnancies, the mares roam pastures exclusive to mothers-to-be. In fact, all horses of given age and condition room together and run the fields together.

When accouchement approaches, the mare is placed in a small corral of bluse grass by herself. She is watched by Napier's men and in her stall the corners are rounded so that she cannot try to give birth to her baby against a wall where it might die. The Messrs. Jones and Napier attend the birth with a veterinary. The mother is an expensive animal and the foal is a potential stakes winner.

Babies from two days old to nine days old try their legs out in a pasture exclusive to mare and foal. After the ninth day, both are permitted in pastures with other mothers and youngsters. Horses nurse for five months before weaning. If the mother dies in giving birth, a nurse mare is rented for $350 for the orphan.

Scipio Napier stood in the warm sun lifting his hat and scratching his head as he watched the little ones, all legs and ears, frisk around their mothers. "I was just wondering," he said, "how many foals we have this spring. Darned if I know because they're being born faster than I can count."

Hermitage Farm costs $404,000 a year to run. Last year, the first 11 yearlings sold for $442,000. As a soldier, Warner Jones Jr. was a cavalryman. He was in a tank, and never saw a horse. . .

St. Peter's High School To Stage Annual Musicale

WESTERNPORT — St. Peter's High School will present their annual Musicale entitled, "Sadie Shaw From Arkansas", in the school auditorium Sunday and Monday, May 16 and 17 at 8 p. m.

Rehearsals are under the direction of Mrs. George Ord.

Take some fine country atmosphere, add a good quantity of lively songs and dances, combine with a few wacky and delightful characters and one will have some idea of "Sadie Shaw from Arkansas". "Sadie", played by Mary Frances Mazzone, is a native of a remote village in the Ozarks, which is invaded by a motion picture company. Hoping to film some local hillbillies as extras, the crew lands from Hollywood with two of its brightest stars. The director and leading man, who have been vying for the attention of the leading lady, after seeing "Sadie" are immediately captivated by her charms. The native lass, sensing the leading lady is furious at the turn of events, makes a big play for the two "Fellers".

"Gabe Wilkins", Sadie's Boy friend, played by James Wilson, is jealous and becomes enraged. In an effort to pacify him, the director casts the two in the starring roles, sending the performers storming back to Hollywood.

Fort Ashby Water System Is Given Test

New Plant Begins Operation June 5

FORT ASHBY—The new rapid and filtration plant which will serve the Fort Ashby area was tested over the weekend when water flowed through the plant in a test of the components of the new water system.

Water for the system is being obtained from a 14-acre lake and dam in Painter Hollow, southeast of Fort Ashby. The dam was constructed by the Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and funds for construction of the water system were obtained from the Farmers Home Administration. This agency lent Fort Ashby officials $265,000 for the work.

The newly-created lake is close to full stage and the permanent pool level is expected to be reached by June 1. The entire system is scheduled to be put into operation at that time.

A dedication program to signal the opening of the new facility is set for June 5, and various congressmen and senators are expected to attend. Governor Hulett Smith and other West Virginia officials also will be in attendance.

A. Baltimore Nips Cleveland, 3-2

Birds Sweep Series On Powell's Homer

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Boog Powell homered in the seventh inning to give the Baltimore Orioles a 3-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians Thursday night and a sweep of the three-game series.

Milt Pappas, who pitched the first seven innings, won his third straight victory this year and the 100th of his American League career. Stu Miller protected the lead in the eighth and ninth, extending his scoreless relief string to 12-1-3 innings.

Luis Tiant, the fourth of six Cleveland pitchers, gave up Powell's homer, making him the loser for the second straight game. Indian manager Birdie Tebetts used 14 pitchers in the three games.

Jack Kralick, the Cleveland starter, failed to retire a batter in the first inning and was charged with both Baltimore runs in the frame. Paul Blair singled and scored on Luis Aparicio's triple. After Dave Johnson walked, Bob Johnson singled home Aparicio and knocked out Kralick.

Cleveland tied the game with two runs in the fifth. Vic Davalillo beat out an infield hit and stopped at third on Larry Brown's double. Joe Azcue's pinch double scored both runners.

Price And Sterne Spark ACC To 5-3 Win Over PSC

Dave Strikes Out 11 Catamounts; Dick Bats In Three Runs

Dave Price's pitching coupled with the timely hitting of Dick Sterne gave Allegany Community College a 5-3 victory over the Catamounts of Potomac State College in a Tri-State Junior College Conference game yesterday at Municipal Field.

The win was the fifth in the last six outings for Coach Alan Stockholm's tossers

ACC is now 3-5 in the conference and Potomac State is 1-4.

In recording his initial triumph of the campaign, Price kept eight hits well spaced and mowed down 11 batsmen via the strikeout route. ACC presented Potomac with two runs in the first inning as a result of loose fielding. After being blanked for seven innings, the Catamounts collected three singles for a run in the ninth before a double play executed by Doug Shook and Sterne ended the game.

Dick Sterne's triple which bounced off the top of the fence in right-center back onto the playing field knocked in Allegany's first run in the third frame. His single in the fifth scoring Doug Shook and Price gave the Trojans a 3-2 lead. ACC scored what proved to be the winning runs in the eighth inning. A double steal produced one run and a balk accounted for the other tally.

Larry Rush went the distance for Potomac State, yielded nine hits, struck out eight and suffered his third loss against two victories.

Mickey Lantz collected three of Potomac's hits and Marvin Hicks hit safely twice. Sterne and Doug Shook shared four of Potomac's nine blows.

The same teams play again Monday at Stayman Field, Keyser, at 2 p. m.

Art Blank's Tavern Sweeps Playoff Set

Art Blank's Tavern needed only two games to sweep their best-of-three series with Corriganville Firettes last night in a special playoff for the American Division championship of the Women's County Shuffleboard League.

Blank's and the Firettes both finished with 65-28 records on the regular season. The stalemate was settled on neutral boards at Corner Tavern.

Elsie Mae Robeson led Art Blank's with 21 points, while Gladys Lowery's 11 was the high total for Corriganville.

Southern, Beall Win In P.V.C.

Petersburg Visits Moorefield Today

While most baseball teams in the area have the majority of their seasons well behind them, Johnny-come-latelies Southern and Elk Garden are just getting started, the Highlanders winning their third game without a loss yesterday, 15-8, at the home field of Elk Garden, a team which was playing (believe it or not) its first game of the season.

In the only other P.V.C. action yesterday, Beall defeated Fort Ashby, 5-4, at Frostburg.

Southern rallied with ten runs in the fourth inning to come from behind and give the win to Greg Stem in relief. Bruckey was the losing pitcher.

Catcher John Minnick led the Highlanders' attack with a home run, a triple, and a double. Terry Imhoff had three singles.

Dennis Clark and Ronnie Ware teamed up with a four-hitter against Fort Ashby, with Clark taking the win. Ronnie Sisk went all the way for the losers. Clark struck out 12 batters and walked eight.

Bernard Connor had two triples for Beall, while Ken "Barney" Fike had a home run.

Petersburg closes out it schedule today when visiting Moorefield. The Vikings will be seeking to end their season with a perfect 10-0 record. In other games today, Keyser visits Paw Paw, and Wardensville is at Mathias.

High School Coaches Quit In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most of Washington's public high school coaches quit coaching Thursday to enforce their demands for pay for after-hours athletic work.

The no pay, no coach decision was reached at a Coaches' Association meeting Wednesday night after their latest effort to get a hearing on the complaint went unanswered.

The association president, Richard Jernigan, announced the decision and said about 40 of the 65 coaches in the Interhigh League had agreed to cease coaching until something is done about pleas for extra compensation ranging from $300 to $800 a year.

Prizefighter Banks Dies As Result Of Ring Injury

Sonny Was One Of Few To Floor Cassius Clay

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Heavyweight Sonny Banks, one of the few fighters ever to floor Cassius Clay, the heavyweight champion, died Thursday of a head injury some 2½ days after he was knocked out in a bout here Monday night.

Banks was kayoed by Leotis Martin of Philadelphia with one minute left in the ninth round of a scheduled 10-rounder at the Arena. He regained consciousness about 20 minutes later, but was taken to Presbyterian Hospital.

When he lapsed into unconsciousness again, Dr. Robert S. Andre, a Philadelphia neurosurgeon, operated to remove a blood clot. Banks was in a coma after the surgery until his death at 4:35 a.m., EDT.

Banks had the reputation of a slugger with 16 knockout victories —six by decision—in 27 professional fights. He never fought as an amateur. On Feb. 10, 1962 he knocked Clay off his feet, but lost the bout by a knockout in the fourth round.

Banks' death was the second boxing fatality this year. Jerry Como, a 17-year-old novice boxer, died Jan. 14 in a Youngstown, Ohio, hospital, after collapsing during a Golden Gloves bout. The coroner ruled the high school senior died of a heart attack, not from a blow.

Dr. Andre ruled out Martin's finishing punch as the direct cause of Banks' death. The knockout punch hit Banks under the left ear, near the hinge of the jaw. He sank to the floor near his corner, finally striking his head on the floor in front of one of the judges.

The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission said Banks and Martin were examined by its medical staff at the official weigh-in and that nothing was detected which would indicate their lives or well being were in any danger. Banks' manager, Ted Ewald, of Grosse Point, Mich., said the Negro fighter from Detroit never had suffered serious injury in a fight before. In his last fight at Houston, Tex., July 21, 1964, he was knocked out in the sixth round by Cleveland Williams.

Gary Buckle pitched a four-hit shutout and hit for the cycle yesterday at Accident as undefeated Northern romped to its fourth win of the year, beating Turkeyfoot Valley Joint of Confluence, Pa., 23-0.

Edwards had a single, double, and triple. Barry Beal and Danny Nicklow each had a double and a triple. Tressler had two of the loser's four singles.

A full schedule of Rocking Chair Softball League games was played yesterday with the Cumberland VFW winning at Pittsburgh Plate's field, 6-0; Kelly-Springfield dumping the Moose, 3-1, at Post Field, and B.P.O. Elks nipping Rothe Heating, 4-2 at Taylor Field.

Pete Elliott pitched a two-hitter, struck out six men, and didn't walk anyone as he led VFW to its shutout win. Bill Thompson was the loser.

Fred Meeks had a triple and a single for the Vets, while Ronnie Cage had two singles. Ashenfelter had a double and Jake Koelker had a single to account for the PPG hits.

Kelly kept pace with the Vets behind the seven-strikeout pitching of Lee Raygor, who outdueled Junior Brelsford with some clutch pitching in the tight spots. Brelsford was hampered by four errors behind him in the field. He gave up only five hits and struck out nine.

Bob Raines doubled in a run in the first inning, and Wayne Holly doubled in two more in the fifth to account for the Kelly scoring. Buddy Crosten had two doubles for the whitewallers. Jim Clingan had a triple and a single for the Moose, while Harry Widdows and Ed Weaver each had a pair of hits. Dick Robeson at first base made the fielding play of the day for the Kelly.

Parsons with a double and Lou Baker with two for four paced the Elk's win. Gene Basilio and Merritt had two hits each for Rothe. Basilio made a great defensive play at third base in the sixth inning.

Paul Seymour Named Coach Of Bullets

Becomes Successor To Buddy Jeannette

BALTIMORE (AP) — Paul Seymour was named coach Thursday of the Baltimore Bullets, the team he started playing pro basketball with 19 years ago.

He succeeds Buddy Jeannette, first coach of the National Basketball Association outfit.

The 37-year-old Seymour previously coached Syracuse and St. Louis in the NBA. He was fired by St. Louis in 1962 and said he is suing for payment of $17,500 salary.

During the past three years, Seymour has been in the liquor business in Syracuse.

Jeannette gave up the same business last year to return as coach of the Bullets, which rejoined the NBA two years ago with a franchise transferred from Chicago. Jeannette will become general manager, a post vacated last week by Paul Hoffman, also a former Bullet player.

"I think we have as good a nucleus as any team in the Western Division," Seymour said of the Bullets. "The starting five may be as good as Boston."

The Bullets finished third in the Western Division last season and won the preliminary playoffs, losing to Los Angeles in the finals.

Seymour was 18 when he joined the Bullets in 1947. He was sold to Syracuse the next February and as captain led them to the 1955 NBA championship. The next year he doubled as coach and for four seasons the Nats made the playoffs.

He went to St. Louis in 1959 and the Hawks won the Western Division title.

Bill Veeck's Claim Is Denied By Busch

ST. LOUIS (AP) Augusta A. Busch, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, denied Thursday that he ever offered Bill Veeck a job as general manager of the baseball club.

Busch's statement was prompted by an article in Sports Illustrated in which Veeck claimed he was offered the Cardinals general manager job last August.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Opening lead: Nine of ♡ South provided a major assist to his own cause in today's six club contract, by drawing a red herring over his trail.

The slam was a sound commitment. When South's two club response drew an immediate raise from the opening bidder, South realized that the partnership was in the slam range, for his hand alone was worth 17 points. The three spade call is a cue bid, designating first round control of that suit. When North reciprocated by showing the ace of diamonds, South proceeded without further ado to six clubs.

West opened the nine of hearts—a top of nothing lead which strongly suggested to the declarer that the king of hearts was located in the East hand and that a finesse of dummy's queen would be a losing proposition. He, therefore, played North's ace without indulging in a prolonged study of the situation—and dropped the ten of hearts from his hand, as tho to suggest he held a singleton in the suit.

A club was led to the ace and, when West showed out on the return, the king was played from dummy. East was now revealed to have a trick in the trump suit, and South's problem was to dispose of his losing heart before his opponent could get in.

If East had three diamonds, declarer would have time to run that suit and discard a heart. If East held a doubleton, however, he could ruff the third diamond and cash the king of hearts. Technically, South was entirely at the mercy of the distribution—however, he devised a simple strategem that might deceive his opponent should the fates prove unkind.

The closed hand was entered with the king of diamonds, a diamond was returned to North's ace, and then a third round of the suit was led. To East it appeared that declarer had no more diamonds and was attempting to ruff out the queen and thereby establish dummy's jack for a discard. Fearing that, if he trumped in with the queen of clubs, South might dispose of a loser, East discarded a heart on the third round.

Declarer was in with the queen of diamonds, and he promptly cashed the ace of spades and then ruffed a spade in order to lead the jack of diamonds—discarding the ten of hearts. It did not matter any longer whether or not East ruffed in, for the queen of clubs was the only trick that he took on the deal.

A HOUSE IS NEVER
BETTER than its BUILDER . . .
That's as true today as it ever was — a house reflects the degree of honesty, integrity and craftmanship of its builder. And that's why you're getting a good house — the most house for the money — when you buy one built by a member of our association.
The reason is simple: our association admits to membership only those builders with a proven record of expert craftmanship and fair dealing in the community. That enables you to buy with confidence. To buy with confidence and to get the most house for your money — buy only a home built by a member of the Home Builders Association of Western Maryland.

Hearing Slated On Brown Ave. Rezoning Bid

Council To Hear Arguments June 1

The Mayor and Council will hold a public hearing Tuesday, June 1, at 10 a.m. in the Council Chamber on a proposal for rezoning of the 900 block of Brown Avenue.

The hearing was set up Monday after Council received a recommendation made by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission May 7.

The commission recommended that the 900 block of Brown Avenue, bounded on the south by Cartmill Avenue, on the north by Lake Avenue, on the west by Greene Street and on the east by Brown Avenue be rezoned from RS (single family) residential to RG-1, General Residential District (medium density).

The recommendation noted that the area includes the 900 blocks of Brown Avenue, Ridgedale Avenue and Greene Street between Lake Avenue and Cartmill Avenue.

Makes Request

The request for rezoning was made to the commission by Robert R. Wills, 713 Montgomery Avenue, who, the commission letter said, desires to construct a six-unit apartment building in the area.

During the commission's April 22 meeting, Albert S. Paye mentioned that Mr. Wills would like to invest in an apartment building on land he (Paye) owns near the Ridgedale Reservoir and that he had advised Mr. Wills to appear before the commission with his request.

The zoning ordinance notes that the R-S (single family) residential district is intended for single family residential uses of medium to low density, to protect those general areas where custom and usage has established this pattern from incompatible conversions or development, and to protect, promote and encourage a suitable environment for family life.

Permitted in the area are single family dwellings, schools, churches and related religious facilities, public parks and playgrounds and neighborhood and municipal buildings.

May Approve

The Board of Appeals may approve, as exceptions, the construction of private clubs, lodges and recreational buildings or semi-public and private institutions of an educational, charitable or philanthropic nature and cemeteries but with sufficient safeguards to prevent undue disturbance of the neighborhood.

The RG-1 general residential district (medium density) is intended for medium density residential areas, permitting single-family, two-family and multi-family residences as well as related uses in keeping with the residential character of the district.

The exceptions, allowable with board approval, are the same as for the R-S district.

Fort Hill Honor Society Officers

New officers of the Fort Hill Chapter of the National Honor Society are shown at their installation this week. From left are Keith Gnegy, president; Joyce Thompson, vice president; Marcia Davis, secretary; Michael Hartsock, jeweler, and Carlene Valentine, treasurer. They were installed by the outgoing officers. The society presented scholarships to three seniors.

Fort Hill High Honor Society Seats Officers

The Fort Hill Chapter of the National Honor Society installed officers at a tea, with the retiring officers as the installation team.

Donald Sewell, outgoing president, presented the $50 scholarships given to seniors by the chapter to Daniel Detrick, Linda Golden, and Karyn Ruckman.

A special citation for outstanding scholastic achievement was presented to Tor Sand, visiting student from Norway.

Installing officers were Robert Walburn, vice president; Sharon Robinson, secretary; Henry Brown, treasurer; and David Merrill, jeweler. New officers are Keith Gnegy, president; Joyce Thompson, vice president; Marcia Davis, secretary; Carlene Valentine, treasurer; and Michael Hartsock, jeweler. Darlyn Counihan and Carol Cyzic also participated in the ceremony as members-at-large.

Jack Petry, high school supervisor, and Dr. Wayne Hill, principal, were guests.

The social committee with the home economics classes arranged for the tea. Miss Edwena Kraus, Daniel Detrick, Ellen Alabaugh, and Roberta Boyd compose the social committee. Miss Yola Hudson, chairman of the home economics department, supervised the arrangements.

The installation ceremony was planned by Miss Gerardine Pritchard, Carol Cyzic, and Richard Ketterman.

Programs and musical direction were supervised by Robert Price. Ellen Alabaugh presided at the tea table. Retiring officers received the guests.

Finan To Speak At Kitzmiller

Attorney General Thomas B. Finan will be a guest speaker at a meeting of the Kitzmiller Lions Club Monday at 6:30 p.m. in the Kitzmiller School auditorium.

Gerald Iman, club president, said the club is embarking on a program of civic activity and is especially interested in the development of roads and recreation and the Upper Potomac River Basin as indicated under the Appalachia program and other state and federal plans. Cooperation with neighboring West Virginia is to be emphasized.

Lewis Hutson, a member of the club and program chairman for this meeting, also stated that Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt of Cumberland, a native of Kitzmiller, has been invited as a special guest to accompany Mr. Finan to Kitzmiller.

The Kitzmiller club meets each first and third Monday of the month, he said.

Government Buys Tract On West Side

A deed for part of the property on the West Side needed for the proposed new Social Security Administration building here was filed for record yesterday in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Lewis F. Hast and Dorothy E. Hast sold their property at 308, 310 and 312 Paca Street to the United States of America for use of the Space Management Division of the General Services Administration. The purchase price was listed as $11,500.

This property is situated midway between the Kel-Co Federal Credit Union building at the intersection of South Lee and Paca streets and the new building of the Maryland Workshop for the Blind at 322 Paca Street.

Several months ago the General Services Administration in Washington announced the selection of a site for the new Social Security Administration building here. The area was described then as bounded on the north by Paca Street, on the east by South Lee Street, on the south by Beall Street and on the west by Walnut Place.

Estimated cost of the project is $117,000.

Presently the Social Security office is located in rented space in a building on Pershing Street opposite the Post Office.

Friends Aware School Permit Is Issued

Potomac Valley Friends Aware of the Handicapped yesterday obtained a permit from the City of Cumberland to build its new school off Holland Street.

The one-story concrete block building will be Y shaped with wings 36 by 30, 29 by 49 and 29 by 49 feet.

The fee for the $70,000 structure was waived by the Mayor and Council.

Historian Challenges City To Push Tourism

Dr. Verne E. Chatelain, professor of history at the University of Maryland, yesterday challenged the members of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club to join with the other service organizations of this city to spark the development of tourist attractions related to this colorful history of this area.

Tourism can be a most important industry to a community and Dr. Chatelain believes Cumberland is most favored because of its connection with the National Road, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal as well as having been the site of Fort Cumberland.

"There is no reason for Cumberland to die on the vine," Dr. Chatelain stressed. He offered to help in any ways possible to assist in an assessment of the historic values here.

Ironically, while Dr. Chatelain was speaking, wreckers were proceeding systematically with the tearing down of the Lowndes home on Washington Street. Miss Elizabeth Lowndes, the last occupant of the home, died in November 1963. She bequeathed the property to the County Commissioners for use as a library annex or for use by the County Board of Education but both groups concluded that repair of the property for public use would be prohibitive.

Eventually the home, which once belonged to Lloyd Lowndes, the only Allegany County man to serve as Governor of Maryland, was purchased by Tasker and Lloyd Lowndes of New York, nephews of Miss Lowndes, and they are having it torn down.

Betty Lou Sullivan has filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against Ronald E. Sullivan.

Two Drivers Fined $100 In Court Here

Two motorists were found guilty yesterday afternoon in Allegany County Circuit Court of driving while under the influence of alcohol and both were fined $100 and court costs.

A jury deliberated about 40 minutes before finding Robert E. Sisk, 46, of RD 1, Ridgeley, guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol. James A. W. Hugglestone of Frostburg was foreman of the jury of nine men and three women. Associate Judge Harold E. Naughton, who had presided at the trial, imposed a $100 fine or 60 days in jail upon the Ridgeley man.

John T. Mason of Cresaptown was found guilty of the same charge by Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill of Oakland. He, too, imposed a $100 fine.

Sisk was arrested by City Police Officer R. G. Shaffer after his automobile hit a pole at the intersection of the Industrial Boulevard and Montreal Avenue about 10:30 p. m. February 26. He was fined $100 and costs by Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt and appealed.

The West Virginian admitted having had two drinks after finishing bowling about 10 p. m. February 26 at the White Oaks Lanes. He said he was driving home from bowling when the accident occurred. He volunteered to undergo a Breathalyzer test and it showed that he had .17 per cent of alcohol in his blood.

Mason was found not guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol last September 19 by Trial Magistrate Leslie J. Clark and the state appealed.

Six city police officers were called to the witness stand by State's Attorney Donald W. Mason, who pointed out that he is not related to the defendant. They said Mr. Clark came to police headquarters about 2:15 a. m. September 19, got Mason and took him home. At 9:30 a. m. the same day, Magistrate Clark tried the case and found Mason not guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol but guilty of driving the wrong way on a one-way street.

The state's attorney said in his brief closing remarks that the case was appealed because Mr. Clark's behavior in the case was considered irregular. Judge Hamill said that he agreed that the magistrate's actions were irregu-

Keyser Firm Will Move To South Carolina

Emerson-Pryne Co. Announces Plans

The Emerson-Pryne Company, which has been manufacturing electrical products in Keyser since 1953, will move to Bennettsville, S. C.

A spokesman for the Builders Product Division of Emerson Electrical Company, St. Louis, Mo., said yesterday that the division has no alternative but to make a decision to close the Keyser plant and move it to Bennettsville.

R. V. Burns, works manager for the division, said such a recommendation would be made to top management of Emerson Electrical Company, whose approval is needed.

Mr. Burns said division representatives met during the past month with union representatives and community leaders and heard several cost-saving suggestions in an effort to try and keep the company in Keyser.

He said, however, that after carefully evaluating these suggestions it was found they didn't give the necessary savings to retain the plant in Keyser.

Between 87 and 90 persons are employed at the Keyser plant. No definite date has been set for moving the plant.

The Keyser plant started production in February 1953 and has been engaged in the manufacturing of recessed lighting fixtures, heaters, kitchen fan hoods and kitchen fans.

It was reported that several of the inducements to keep the firm in Keyser included an offer to sell the company 38 acres in the new industrial park and to build a 150,000-square-foot building for lease or sale over a 15-year period.

Youth Held In Auto Theft

A local youth is being held in the County Jail in default of $500 bond on an auto larceny charge.

Ray C. Smith Jr., 18, of 613 North Centre Street, was given a hearing yesterday before Magistrate Leslie J. Clark, who ordered the youth committed in default of bond.

Smith was charged with taking a car owned by Glenn Watson on May 1 in South Cumberland.

State's Attorney Donald W. Mason said the youth waived grand jury indictment, and a criminal information will be filed in the case. County Investigator William F. Baker questioned the youth and took a statement from him yesterday.

The case is being investigated by Capt. James E. Van of the City Police Department.

Honor Society Chapter Installed At Flintstone

A new chapter of the National Honor Society has been installed at Flintstone High School and is called the Elsie Hill Roland chapter in honor of the woman who for years served as principal of the school.

Jack A. Petry, county supervisor of high schools, was guest speaker at the ceremonies Tuesday afternoon. He commended the chapter for its decision to honor Mrs. Roland whose influence upon education has affected the county and state as well as Flintstone.

The guest speaker noted that the four corners of the Honor Society keystone are scholarship, leadership, service and character.

"May I say, that as an educator, I have a sincere and deep interest in scholarship," he said. "As a former teacher and principal, I have a great appreciation for the other three—leadership, service and character."

"You, your teachers and your parents must make certain that good leaders will always be available to assure our good American way of life. There are many potentials here today—I hope all of you become eligible for this society by your performance in the future. We can't all be leaders — some must be followers, but let us be certain that we are following those who will build for us and not destroy all that we have inherited from our forefathers," he concluded.

Participants in the charter presentation were members of the James Spitznas Chapter of Beall High School and the Wayne Hill Chapter of Beall Junior High School.

Industrial Park To Be Formed In This Area

Will Give UPIDC 'Package To Sell'

When the current $300,000 fund-raising campaign of the Cumberland-Allegany County Industrial Foundation is complete, the funds will be utilized in the development of an industrial park with sites for prospective new industries as well as for industries already here which may wish to expand, according to Harry Kauffman, president of the Upper Potomac Industrial Development Company.

This industrial park will provide the UPIDC with something specific to sell prospective new industries. Under present arrangements, all that is at the prospects' disposal is general factual information about the advantage of the area but with no control over prospective sites.

Hundreds of communities around the country have experienced major industrial growth among firms with the development of the industrial parks. One such community is Needham, Mass., which developed the New England Industrial Center. This was one of the first planned industrial parks in New England.

Site Is Obtained

For the development of this center in 1949, a site of over 140 acres was obtained fronting on Route 128, then only in the planning stages. This highway was intended as a limited access express route to link the community north and south of Boston, circumventing congestion of the city.

After two years of an intensive educational campaign within Needham, Cabot, Cabot & Forbes Company, a Boston industrial real estate firm, obtained the necessary zoning for the establishment of an industrial center.

Then the company executed its master plan which transformed an unsightly gravel pit into an industrial park development which provided industry with prepared sites for immediate construction.

Mr. Kauffman pointed out that the New England Industrial Center offered to industry the opportunity to acquire large land sites on which to construct new facilities designed for operations in attractive surroundings. Location of a limited access expressway permitted rapid product distribution to suburban metropolitan markets throughout the Greater Boston area as well as markets in New England, New York state and points west.

A prime factor in the remarkable growth of the New England Industrial Center was the fact that the developer provided an integrated staff for a comprehensive new building program. One organization offered sites ready for construction as well as such services as new building design, engineering and financing. This coordinated plan enabled a company to deal with just one firm in all phases of facilities planning, resulting in saving both in time and money.

Is Nearly Full

From its opening in 1952, the New England Industrial Center met with remarkable acceptance on the part of industry. Now it is nearly 100 per cent occupied and accommodates 37 diversified organizations which employ over 5,430 persons. Most of the buildings are utilized for offices and distribution warehouses. However, there are some light manufacturing facilities and research laboratories.

The New England Industrial Center, Mr. Kauffman said, is an excellent example of what a community can do if it is determined to progress.

He said the $300,000 fund for a Cumberland area industrial park is a bare minimum when one considers raw land and developments costs, adding:

"If we are going to compete with other areas, we must have the support of everyone concerned," he said, in urging that area people show their spirit of cooperation by contributing to the Industrial Fund drive, adding:

"After all, who will benefit but the people of this area?"

Md. Industry Expanding

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Industrial expansion in Maryland is running 20 per cent ahead of last year, the department of economic development reported Thursday.

Director George W. Hubley Jr. said plans for 60 new or expanded plant projects were announced by businesses during the first four months of 1965, compared with 50 during the same period last year.

He said that 28 of the projects involve new industries and the other 32 expansion of existing businesses.

The report on industrial growth was made at the monthly meeting of the economic development commission.

Hubley said that those companies reporting on investment and new jobs indicated they would spend $44.5 million and create 1,914 new jobs. This compares with investments of $12.8 million and 1,158 new jobs last year.

Not all companies release statistics on investments and labor force, Hubley said, and the figures do not reflect the total number of new jobs which will be created.
